 Dan. I was hoping you would be in K.C. on June 7-8, which is when we will be there for our last meetings with caterer, florist, band, etc.... Oh well. (sigh.) Food at Classic Cup is really best described as gourmet. They have great everything -- soups, salads, pastas, pizzas, big-time meat entrees, desserts, etc... Great wine and beer selection. You have to remember that I see the world through a veggie-person's eyes, so I can vouch for their delicious nouveau pastas with odd cheeses and portobello 'shrooms and other veggies. They sometimes have wood-fired pizzas. They always have some really good full-on dinners (usu. with meat.) You'll love it, I promise! Prices range. A pasta dish is probably in the $9-11 range. Full-on dinners maybe $14 range? Salads probably $3-4. Great appetizers, too. I would love to see Susan on Friday. I hope she can join us.

 Laura: We will be in K.C. on Thursday, June 19 and Holton through Sunday. The ClassicCup sounds like a nice place. What kind of food? Is it expensive? Reservations necessary? I was also going to ask you about places to run, because I planned on running that Friday morning in K.C. The article would be perfect. Thanks. I will talk to you Friday morning (Hain's Point sounds great). John P.S. I ran with Susan Maloney today. She might want to run with us on Friday. Is that o.k.?

 I would definitely like to run at lunch on Friday. Hain's Point? In K.C., you should eat dinner at the Classic Cup, which is on the Plaza, between FAO Schwarz and the Sharper Image and across the street from Harold's and Laura Ashley. It is my favorite restaurant in K.C. & the site of our rehearsal dinner. Great food -- great atmosphere (fireplace in winter, sidewalk and back deck dining in summer. I don't know about breakfast -- La Bonne Bouchee used to be a great bakery/coffeehouse, but they are currently under renovation. I think that several Plaza restaurants have good brunches, but probably only on Sundays. I would ask at the front desk. You know, I just remembered that Runner's World did their "On the Road" in K.C. this month. If you don't have it, I'll try to remember to bring it for you on Friday. Which weekend do you go to?

 Laura: I know its early, but I just wanted you to know that I will run at lunch on Friday if you are interested. Also, Abbey and I are going to that wedding in Holton, KS in mid June. We decided to go a day early and we are staying at the Sheraton on "the Plaza". I have
