Subject: Re: Congratulations...

No thanks necessary! We are so very happy for you and Sue! As for our puppy, the dog-mom that the breeder was trying to get pregnant had a "false" pregnancy (which I was not aware happened with dogs) instead of a real one, so we're looking at a July or August litter with yet another potential mom and, of course, an 8-9 wk. delay after that before we secure our little guy (or gal). September at the earliest, and probably October! Oh, well. In the meantime, there is so much adjusting going on with the other animals in the house that it may be just as well (did I tell you that a friend of ours has moved in with us for awhile and that he has a dog -- dalmatian -- and two cats?). Are you back at work for awhile, or "for good" (however long that is)? Sue and the baby, I trust, are well?
