Today, from 12:00 sharp to 1:00 sharp (barring any official conflicts in the conference room), I will be airing the first of twelve episodes (about Yuri Gagarin/JFK/Webb/Mercury/Gemini) of HBO's miniseries "From the Earth to the Moon," which premiered last night. I will air episode 2 (about the Apollo 1 fire) on Friday at lunch, after the declass session (Tues-Thurs) is over. You are free to show up late (as most people usually do), but it just means you will miss part of the show.
