We have learned that Yale University Library has papers of Abe Fortas that include a file on the assassination and several other potentially relevant records. Many of them are classified. According to the deed of gift signed by Fortas, the records are not to be opened until 2000. Yale is willing to make the records available for me to inspect, but will not send or release copies at this time.I am currently planning to go on May 28 or 29 to examine them. Do you see any value in raising any issues with Burke Marshall at that time?Please
