Our account rep in the loan division of the Library of Congress told me that because we only have a month and a half left he will not renew our books, although we may keep them until the end of September. The books will stay on the overdue book list, but we will not be charged any fines when we return them. He said it is important however that when we do return them that we keep the receipts of return as often times they make mistakes when so many are returned at one time.
