Subject: Re: Final Report -- Typeface

At this point, I am only worried about getting the text together. Tracy and I will make style decisions when we meet with the printer. As I explained to you earlier today, I chose Times New Roman simply because my home computer does not translate Garamond into a readable text -- it comes out as gibberish. I do note your preference, however, and we'll see what fonts the printer even has available when we meet with them.

Laura -- I don't know if a final decision has been made on the ultimate type face for the final report, but I would vote for the prior style (geramond). [I am conforming Chapter 7 to the New Roman type face].--
