SITUATION INFORMATION REPORT

POOR PEOPLE'S CAMPAIGN

POTENTIAL FOR VIOLENCE

On page seven of the Situation Information Report of 14 June 1968, it was reported that a group from the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), a militant group opposed to the United States policy in Vietnam, planned to join the Poor People's Campaign in Washington, D. C., and demonstrate at the Office of Education on 14 June 1968.

On 14 June 1968 Rudolfo Corky Gonzales, one of the leaders of the Mexican/American contingent and a group of 100 demonstrators, met with representatives of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) at the HEW auditorium. Gonzales was accompanied by one Marc Steiner of the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS), Washington, D. C. Steiner is reported to have stated that the problems of poverty are caused by the United States capitalist, racist society. Steiner predicted many more riots on campuses throughout the United States similar to the recent riots at Columbia.

At the end of Steiner's speech, Gonzales stated that Steiner would someday be the leader of the "New Lincoln Brigade." Gonzales praised the Lincoln Brigade of the 1930's which had done so much good in Spain in fighting the fascists.

Six unidentified militant negroes were also present at the meeting from Howard University. The negroes made the remark that "King had a dream," but "we have a secret" and in September if these demands are not met, the United States will know the secret.

The meeting at HEW concluded at about 1315 hours and the group of demonstrators retired for a rally of government employees at the Reflecting Pool.

During the Students for a Democratic Society (SDS) convention at Michigan State University, East Lansing, Michigan, during the week of 10 June 1968, the SDS called for its members to participate in the Solidarity Day march of 19 March 1968 in order to support the Poor People's Campaign and to publicize SDS' own issues such as anti-draft and anti-imperialism. The SDS officialy announced that militants would participate in the Solidarity Day march. The SDS expected federal troops to move against Resurrection City on Solidarity Day and called for a mobilization for that day.

COMMENT: Marc Steiner, cited above, 'is probably identical with Marc Ben Steiner, who is reported to have illegally travelled to Cuba in February 1968. Marc Ben Steiner was in a group of individuals which included William Mark Rudd. This group was identified as a group of members of the Students for a Democratic Society. Mark Rudd was the leading activist in the recent student demonstrations at Columbia University.
