I thought it was excellent – comprehensive, well organized and persuasive. I'll be curious to see what comes of it.

Let's talk about the DP statute at some point soon.

Lanny mentioned to me that you read the memo that Robyn Thiemann, Chuck Gross, Paul Rosen, and I put together this past weekend on gun violence. I was curious what you thought of it generally, and specifically whether you thought any of the proposals for legislative action had a prayer of success.

On a related note, a group of us from CRM, EOUSA, OLP, and ATF have been conferring informally for the past few months on what a possible DP statute might look like, in case we were ever asked for a proposal, and we have a pretty solid consensus on what would be workable. Happy to discuss if you think it's worth pursuing.
