Gag Order Sought for Tucson Victims' Autopsies

Source: My Fox Phoenix

Summary: Federal prosecutors are seeking to bar the release of the autopsy results for six people killed in a Tucson rampage targeting U.S. Rep. Gabrielle Giffords.

Court records show the request to U.S. District Judge Larry Burns for the gag order was filed Monday by prosecutors who say the families of five of the victims objected to the release of the reports.

The prosecutors also are seeking to prevent Pima County's deputy chief medical examiner, Dr. Eric Peters, and his staff from talking to the media about the case.

E-mails show Arizona campus worried about Loughner before shootings

Source: CNN

Summary: Before Jared Lee Loughner allegedly opened fire on an Arizona congresswoman, police at an area college he had previously attended were put on alert to keep him off campus, according to e-mails obtained Monday by CNN.

Terry report: Border agents fired first -- with bean bags

Source: KGUN- ABC (Ch. 9 Tucson)

Summary: On the night he was killed, there is no indication that Border Agent Brian Terry ever got off a shot. That is one of the revelations contained in a confidential document that 9 On Your Side has obtained.

The document is a BORTAC incident report - BORTAC being an acronym for Border Patrol Tactical Unit. According to the report, Terry was one of six officers taking part in a patrol in the Rio Rico area - not four, as the Border Patrol had previously stated. The Border Patrol has said very little about what happened that night, but after the shooting stated that four officers had been looking for bandits preying on drug and human smugglers.

New Loughner indictment expected

Source: KOLD CBS (Ch. 13 Tucson)

Summary: Jared Loughner is due in federal court in Tucson next week when a new indictment is expected stemming from the shooting that killed six people and injured 13 others at a northwest side shopping center on January 8. (with Video)
