FBI Will Probe Voting Squabbles

Carl Muecke, U.S. district attorney here, said today an FBI investigation will determine whether any action will be taken on polling-place squabbles over challenging of voters.

A Republican poll watcher and his Democrat counterpart scuffled briefly at the Bethune School precinct, 1510 S. 15th Ave. City police, county and federal authorities twice responded to protests there that the Republican challenger was slowing up voting.

Wayne C. Benton, 355 Selden Lane, said he had challenged 12 voters because he felt that in the past some voters were not qualified. Those challenged were asked either to prove their address or their literacy by reading a part of the U.S. Constitution.

BENTON grappled with Pat Marino, 6439 S. Fourth Ave., a Democrat poll watcher. Police quieted them down and advised them to take up the matter with the county attorney's office if they wanted to press charges.

U.S. Senator Carl Hayden's office asked for an investigation by the U.S. attorney's office after the first report of trouble at the Bethune School.

Muecke today said, "It's not surprising that there was some tension at precincts where people in the areas are sensitive about minority issues, but I don't feel that we have any problem of election corruption or Deep South racial trouble in this area."

THE ELECTION board at the Bethune precinct voted to exclude both men after the scuffle. When a challenge was made, the election officials asked the person to step aside so that other voters would not be delayed.

Vince Maggiore, county Democratic chairman, said, "The tactics used by Republican challengers in minority areas reflect discredit on a great national party."

Richard Kleindienst, Republican chairman, replied that "We challenged in precincts where it has been demonstrated in the past that some parts of the Democratic organization in Maricopa County try to crowd into the polls at the last minute people who are not qualified to vote. Our success is the thing that got them upset. I would think they would be a little embarrassed to point at us."

WILLIAM HUBBS REHNQUIST

The November 9, 1971, edition of the "Milwaukee Sentinel," a newspaper published daily in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, contained two articles concerning the background of Rehnquist.

The article on page one of the "Milwaukee Sentinel" was set forth under the caption "Rehnquist Got First Lesson Early on Law and Order." This article disclosed that Rehnquist, when he was 17 years old, was arrested for a parking violation.

The article, in quotes, listed the following as the entire record:

"Milwaukee Police Department. Name: William H. Rehnquist. Born 10/1/24. Parents: William and Margery Rehnquist. Offense charged: Crosswalk parking, four feet. Date of arrest: 4/18/42."

"The police officers in Squad 53 reported that on April 17, 1942, this boy parked a Packard sedan four feet from a crosswalk on E. Hampshire between N. Hackett from 11:05 p.m. to 11:10 p.m."

"Young Rehnquist was ordered to appear at Children's Court on April 20, 1942, which he did.

"A probation officer handled the offense and typed on the back of the report was 'Disposition of delinquent: Boy in office and warned about obeying traffic and parking laws.'"

On page three an article appeared under the caption "Claim Rehnquist, Birch Tie." This article under a New York dateline reflects that Sidney Zion, who first identified Daniel Ellsberg as the man who disclosed the Pentagon Papers, claimed Monday night that William Rehnquist belonged to the John Birch Society in the early 1960's.

Zion, a former "New York Times" reporter and later a magazine publisher, made the accusation on the Barry Gray radio show on a New York station.

Zion said that Rehnquist joined the ultra-conservative Birch Society while living in Phoenix, Arizona. He refused to say where he got the information, but said the sources were "'quite as impeccable as the sources I had then'" referring to the Ellsberg disclosure. Zion stated he was making the allegation because of Rehnquist's pending confirmation before the Senate.

Other participants in the radio interview pressed Zion for further details of Rehnquist's John Birch ties, but he refused to elaborate. He did tell newsmen that his sources were not "'on the left'" of the political spectrum. According to Zion, he was told by sources that Rehnquist, while a Phoenix attorney, was a "'social climber'" and it was in his best interests to belong to the John Birch Society. He fixed the time of Rehnquist's membership as 1961 and 1962.

November 9, 1971

SPECIAL INVESTIGATIVE DIVISION

Attached "New York Post" article states Sidney Zion, a reporter, in radio talk in New York City 11/8/71 announced he has received information from impeccable sources that Rehnquist was member of John Birch Society in Phoenix in 1961-62. Zion is same reporter who released story that Ellsberg gave confidential papers to press. Department is being advised. When we investigated Supreme Court nominee Rehnquist, members of NAACP made unsupported charges Rehnquist had been member of Arizonans for America and John Birch Society. Our investigation showed he spoke before Arizonans for Americanon subject of taxes. Investigation (including contacts with former official and members of Arizonans for America) disclosed no evidence of membership in either of these groups and he denied such membership.

Rehnquist Called an Ex-Bircher

Sidney Zion, the former reporter who first identified Daniel Ellsberg as the man who leaked the Pentagon Papers, charged last night that Supreme Court nominee William Rehnquist was a member of the John Birch Society in the early 1960s.

Crediting "impeccable sources on the right," Zion said Rehnquist, an assistant U. S. attorney general, belonged to a "John Birch cell" while he was a lawyer in the Phoenix area in 1961 and 1962.

Zion made the charge on WMCA's Barry Gray Show, also the forum for his Ellsberg disclosure.

Rehnquist's nomination is currently being weighed by the Senate Judiciary Committee. While the panel appeared to have ended its questioning of Rehnquist, Zion said he hoped his disclosure would reopen the interrogation.

P Late on the afternoon of 11/9/71 Associate Deputy Attorney General Harlington Wood telephonically contacted Mr. Felt and advised that during confirmation hearings before the Senate Judiciary Committee an allegation had been made by Senator Birch Bayh regarding an election law violation in Phoenix, Arizona. The complainant in connection with this case was alleged to be Senator Carl Hayden (former Dem.-Arizona) or a Federal judge, and it alleged that the Republican Party was impeding certain minority groups. This was supposed to have happened between 1960 and 1968, possibly in 1964.

By checking election law cases in the Phoenix Office it was determined that [redacted]

[redacted] called our Phoenix Office 11/6/62 and reported that the situation at the Mary Bethune School voting precinct (located in a black area of Phoenix) was getting out of hand. He stated one [redacted] had been beaten or struck and that several arrests had been made by the Phoenix Police Department. [redacted] called the Phoenix Office later the same day and said that he had just received a call from [redacted] Administrative Assistant to Senator Hayden, who said that Senator Hayden wanted an appropriate investigation conducted by the FBI and that [redacted] was going to call FBI headquarters.

An election law matter case was promptly instituted by our Phoenix Office and a closing report was submitted 11/8/62 (copy attached). This report indicates that no one was located during the FBI investigation who was deprived of his voting right and the Department did not request additional investigation after our closing report was forwarded dated 11/8/62.

Judge Who Charges Rehnquist With Misconduct Gets Nixon Promotion Then Changes Mind

David V. Lasser

PHOENIX—(8-20) In 1960, Federal Judge George H. Boldt came to Phoenix as a visiting judge. In one of the cases under his jurisdiction at that time, an attorney for the defense was William H. Rehnquist, the recent nominee to the U. S. Supreme Court.

It is not uncommon for a judge to overrule an attorney. It is somewhat less common for a judge to take a lawyer into his chambers and call him "reprehensible." The transcript of the case in question certainly leaves some doubt as to the legal qualifications of Rehnquist to sit on the nation's highest court.

However, the most remarkable aspect of the case concerns Judge Boldt. His actions and his recent career upgrading. Longtime Federal Judge Boldt was tapped by Nixon late last month for elevation to head of the newly created Pay Board. The coincidence of this appointment, announced the very day after the Rehnquist appointment, is fascinating.

A week ago, Senator Hruska read into the Senate Judicial Committee's hearing on the Supreme Court Nominees a letter from Judge Boldt. The letter from Boldt contained an explanation that his 1960 upbraiding of lawyer Rehnquist had been a mere "misunderstanding."

The legal transcript of the trial in 1960 runs to 1200 pages. I have excerpted for publication parts of the transcript that seemed most noteworthy regarding Rehnquist. In each segment, all the quotations are complete, nothing omitted. Evaluate for yourself the dimensions of Judge Boldt's "misunderstanding."

It would appear to me to be similar to a tampering with the jury...to offer a promotion to perhaps the one judge who was known to have called Rehnquist to task for unprofessional conduct. This blatant act by Nixon is an insult to the people of this country and to the Senate Judicial Committee who are fairly trying to secure the facts about one man's conduct.

The transcript reprinted below should be sufficient to make you wonder if this attorney is qualified to become a Judge.

Rehnquist argues to allow hearsay evidence twice removed

Opposing Attorney Mr. McLane: Your honor, it is hearsay, calling for Mr. Bushnell's opinion.

Witness: Well, through conversation I had with Mr. Croydon I had understood that he had talked with Mr. Bushnell who was the Insurance Commissioner, and—

THE COURT: Do you mean you got it third hand? I thought it was directly from Bushnell.

MR. REHNQUIST: No, your honor.

THE COURT: Well, that would be hearsay twice removed.

MR. REHNQUIST: I don't believe it makes any difference.

THE COURT: I think so.

Page 752

Judge objects to Rehnquist's leading questions

Rehnquist (Questioning witness): And if Kelly set a deadline in which the sale of his stock had to be consummated, you had reason to urge your fellow investors to comply with the deadline?

MR. HEINEMAN: That is objected to unless it is shown there was such a deadline.

THE COURT: There has not been any suggestion thus far except by Mr. Rehnquist.

MR. HEINEMAN: I believe that should be determined first if there was.

THE COURT: Yes. I think that the only one suggesting that thus far, Mr. Rehnquist, is you. So there is no background for such a question, in especially so highly leading a form. Sustained.

Judge accuses Rehnquist of violating procedures he has already been told about

BY MR. REHNQUIST:

Mr. Ballantyne, have you or your counsel entered into any agreement with the plaintiff affecting your liability in this action?

MR. HEINEMAN: That is objected to, your honor.

THE COURT: Yes. It is a part of the stipulation already referred to, Mr. Rehnquist. Sustained.

MR. REHNQUIST: I would like to make an offer of proof.

THE COURT: The records were made on this, and you are violating it.

Page 973

Rehnquist again attempts to introduce hearsay evidence

REHNQUIST: Have you ever known him before he called you?

WITNESS: No.

REHNQUIST: What did he say to you?

MR. McLANE: Object, that is hearsay.

THE COURT: Sustained.

Judge admonishes Rehnquist for bringing up lawyers' fees

MR. REHNQUIST: Have you prayed for recovery of attorney's fees in your Complaint, Mr. Gorsuch?

MR. McLANE: The Complaint speaks for itself.

THE COURT: There is a claim for attorney's fees, but that is going to be a matter for the Court and not for the jury.

MR. REHNQUIST: Your Honor, in the opening statement Mr. McLane stated that—

THE COURT: I recall the incident, but the question, that whole question is going to be one for the Court, if and when there is going to be a recovery, if and when attorney's fees will be allowed in any amount, and if so, the amount.

Rehnquist (in Judge's chambers) moves for mistrial

...on the business of the notice to Gorsuch, when your Honor stated from the bench that I had again violated an understanding, I do not know how I could avoid my duty to my client to lay a foundation for the merger. I recall your Honor's statement that the merger would not go to the jury. Nonetheless, in addition to the merger agreement, which has been identified, I think in order to have a complete record for the Court of Appeals, if that should be necessary, on this exclusion point we would have to show that Gorsuch had gotten some notice of the merger, that the merger agreement by itself would not be sufficient.

Now, that is my reason for acting as I did, and I would move the Court at this time for a mistrial as to my client, in view of your Honor's comments. I think it puts me in a very difficult light with the jury; and secondly, even if your Honor would decide not to grant mistrial, I would request your Honor, if you are at all impressed with what I have to say, to explain to the jury that I was at least acting in good faith.

Mistrial denied. Judge charges bad faith, misconduct, and deliberate violations. Calls Rehnquist highly reprehensible.

THE COURT: I don't believe you were acting in good faith, and I charge you with misconduct as an officer of the Court. I believe you deliberately have violated two different rulings of the Court in a manner that is highly reprehensible, and I charge you with it and I believe you to be so. I am not going to punish you for contempt in this instance, but I regard it as contempt. Your attitude and the manner in which you have approached the matter, in my judgment, was a deliberate and flagrant violation of what you knew to be the spirit of the ruling made.

Judge tells Rehnquist he's not a reputable attorney, says Rehnquist's actions show deliberate malice.

Now, the ruling may be wrong, but a reputable attorney does not, after ruling has been made, deliberately try to petition before the jury material that the Court has ruled and said specifically and emphatically is not to be addressed to the jury, and that is what you did, and I believe you did it deliberately and with malice aforethought.

That is my finding on it from my observation of you and your conduct in the conduct of this case. I so find. Make whatever you wish of it, sir.

Judge tells attorneys that Rehnquist not of highest professional standards

THE COURT: I feel quite the contrary with respect of Mr. Rehnquist, whom I regard as having comporting himself in a manner not in keeping with highest professional standards. I am not going to talk any further about it, but that is the way I feel, and you know it. So there will be no if's or and's or but's about it, either, sir.

Rehnquist again resorts to hearsay; Judge again questions his good faith

(The jury withdrew from the courtroom.)

THE COURT: Mr. Rehnquist, it is very difficult for me to understand—perhaps I don't make myself plain to you, or you don't make yourself plain to me, but how in good conscience and good faith could you put Niesz on to offer that kind of hearsay testimony as purporting to show a replacing of assets. I would like you to explain that to me, how you reconcile that with your professional responsibility to a Court of record of which you are an officer.

Judge asks for apology and Rehnquist complies

THE COURT: The Court has an apology coming for you doing such a thing.

MR. REHNQUIST: I apologize, your Honor.

Judge claims Rehnquist has good imagination when making offer of proof

MR. REHNQUIST: I wonder, since the Court has pretty well indicated its view that the testimony will be inadmissible anyway, this is more or less simply for the purpose of a record, if we couldn't have the arguments this afternoon, and when Gregory shows up, perhaps during a recess, take the offer.

THE COURT: Well, the point is, if anything is admissible, now, of course, is the time to put it in. I am certainly not prejudging it. I merely made it plain simply that you should not in making an offer tax your imagination. We all know that counsel sometimes are misled and disappointed by witnesses, but at least it is the duty of counsel in making an offer of proof to exercise reasonable prudence to see to it that he does not make a representation to the Court that is false.

Rehnquist admits his statement "obviously inaccurate"

MR. REHNQUIST: Second, we object to that portion of the charge dealing with the liability of a director remaining silent while an illegal transaction is planned, on the grounds that it should have been qualified to include the requirement that the director knew or should have known that it was illegal.

THE COURT: It did.

MR. REHNQUIST: In that case my exception is obviously inaccurate, your Honor.

THE COURT: I don't want to get into a discussion about it, but it did so limit it.

What Happened To The Rehnquist Files At "Republic" Morgue?

PHOENIX—(8-20) Many times I have used the clipping file, fondly called the "morgue", at the Arizona "Republic" and "Gazette". The gals there are courteous, helpful, and quite professional.

It came as a bit of a shock when I went down to use the morgue on the Monday following Rehnquist's nomination to the Supreme Court and ran into a strange sort of barrier.

"Sorry, the Rehnquist files are in use". (I didn't see anybody using them. Tried again.) "The Rehnquist files will be tied up," PU wall... "They'll be tied up for a long time." I'm patient...about how long? "Maybe a week."

There is another side to local news ... we print it. We believe, first, in people rights, the rights of the individual. We will give a voice to Mr. and Mrs. Average Guy, who is under-represented, we'll give a voice to the underdog, the underdog, our youth, the underaged and the underdeveloped ... but not to the underhanded. We strive for understanding between all peoples.

Barry Goldwater was defeated for President.

It should have been easy. We thought. Then David discovered everyone in Arizona had apparently lost their memory for dates, including ourselves. The typical response to his questions went something like this: "Yeah, so you know who lost the election. Tell me who WON and maybe I'll tell you what year it was."

Elementary. Goldwater lost to Johnson (or was it Kennedy?) In 1964 (or was it '62? Or '60?) and Kleindienst lost too... golly, it must have been Sam Goddard, because Sam's the only Democratic governor we've had in a coon's age, but was that the same year Goldwater ran or not? The more folks we asked the harder we tried to remember, the more confused it became.

Calls to the public library produced little more than the notion to check out our own reference works, such as the World Almanac and the World Book Encyclopedia. Lo and behold, in one was a list of U.S. Presidents and opponents; in the other was a list of Arizona governors. That was enough. Kleindienst and Goldwater were both on the ballot in 1964. And, at last, with the date established, it was only a matter of time (and effort) to get each witness before a notary public, and the two affidavits were signed, sworn to, and in the mail to Washington.

You know, there's been alot of fuss this week over the Tate and Harris affidavits. The Justice Department's claimed the affidavits are false. They know, they say, because the FBI investigated reports of such a disturbance at the polls here and (1) the disturbance occurred in 1962 and (2) Rehnquist wasn't challenging at the polls in 1962. Well, just between you and me, all THAT proves is that the FBI and/or the Justice Department gives up a heck of alot easier than MY Boss...

Rehnquist Being Promoted With Madison Ave Flim Flam

Never has an administration tried so hard to sell a candidate for the Supreme Court. In his previous appointments, Nixon has used only the familiar heavy political pressure. In the cases of Carswell and Haynesworth, the facts of their past careers spoke out too loudly. For Rehnquist, the Nixon administration has played it differently. There has been something approaching a real promotional effort.

For no other Supreme Court appointee has the FBI released possibly prejudicial information in an attempt to minimize its impact. But the FBI did release two letters to the editor that Rehnquist had written in which he revealed a nonchalant approach to civil and human rights.

Next, Nixon seems to have traded an appointment for a clean bill of health. And Federal Judge George Boldt was awarded the post of Pay Board Director. Appointed the day after Rehnquist's appointment was announced, Boldt then proceeded to write a letter supposedly nullifying his previous scathing attack on the Supreme Court nominee.

Statement after statement lauding Rehnquist has been made by an assortment of political names. The interesting fact is not the endorsements but the fact that the endorsements haven't come in bunches as usual. They seemed to be released something like the medication in a timed cold capsule.

Then when testimony adverse to Rehnquist does come to light, the justice department takes the astonishing position that the testimony must be false because "the FBI investigated." Although, even the justice department agrees under questioning that the FBI investigated only for the year 1962, while the disputed testimony concerns 1964.

And political cronies are brought into play to smear and besmirch every piece of testimony and every witness not favorable to Rehnquist.

Rarely has this country seen such a spectacle.

If either the Senate Judicial Committee or anybody else really wants to get to the bottom of the facts... it just may take moving the hearing to Phoenix and holding something similar to a grand jury. Many potential witnesses are fearful. But a subpoena with guarantees of immunity could bring out some of the statements that people are now reluctant to sign. This may be the only way to get all the real facts known.

Who's Playing God?

If a fascist type dictatorship ever takes over in the United States of America, it will do so under the pretext of preserving freedom. If freedom of the press ever dies in this land it will not be by the heavy hand of government bureaucracy but by the monopolistic practices and plain irresponsibility of the media's own top brass.

The only censorship in this free land today is the special brand of holier-than-thou denunciation by certain representatives of the publishing industry itself of every challenge to their master-slave relationship to the minds of men under their control.

Millionaire publishers of a monopoly press are by no means the intellectual descendants of that 18th century American patriot, Peter Zenger, in whose name they claim to speak. The challenge of Peter Zenger in 1734 was against the autocratic administration of a royalist Governor of the Colony of Virginia—and therefore against the British Empire itself. Zenger's challenge was against an opposition "establishment" newspaper as well. And his release from prison came only because the truth of his charges were proven in court.

The true intellectual descendants of Peter Zenger were on the American scene 85 years later when Thomas Jefferson and his party led the fight for repeal of the Alien and Sedition Acts sponsored by President John Adams, who also found it possible to speak in the name of freedom while dozens of editors were imprisoned merely for "uttering or publishing false, scandalous and malicious sentiments tending to bring the government of the United States or its officers into disrepute or to excite the hatred of the people." And if the statement happened to be critical of a judge, it was false because the judge said it was.

It is well for individual citizens who do not have the specially extended "free speech" of a monopoly newspaper enterprise, at their disposal to realize that these constitutional guarantees of freedom of speech and press were not meant for huge publishing chieftains alone. In fact, the phenomenon of the privately owned monopoly press was unknown when the Bill of Rights came into being.

These protections were rather designed for every individual, alike—whether he chose to print or to speak his "heresies" against the powerful. Likewise, in those days no institution or combination of institutions had arisen which threatened to become more powerful than the people's government itself.

Times have changed, but principles have not. In these times, only the government of a free people really stands between them and the powerful economic forces which would drown their precious heritage in pollution, literally poison the food we eat and the clothes we wear, hire the most able at the lowest wage possible and discard the rest, and pollute the minds of men as well in an effort to prove that it is all in their best interests to preserve unfettered "free enterprise."

Ralph Nader, the man, is not the issue. John Gardner, the man, is not the issue. These and other talented people who see the dangers to American freedom from the hypocritical "freedom" of monopoly enterprise, may be personally vain, arrogant and as obnoxious as those at whom they direct their barbs. But if Ralph Nader is, as charged, "playing God over American business" in exercising his right of free speech and free enterprise, then it might be asked: Who is "playing God" over the Bill of Rights?

"Inside" the Rehnquist investigation...

A disaster area! Gee, how did you guess? Oh, you noticed the slight edge of hysteria in my voice when I answered the phone the other day... Or, if you've been out to the house lately, you probably tripped over a dog, several cats, a striking accumulation of trash & toys, a few rocks, and a toe-catching arrangement of laundry (washed and unwashed, well mixed) on your way in. Stepping gingerly, you may have speculated: "A war zone... here?"

If you survived the hurdles, you were probably accosted next by a chubby but dreadfully neglected-looking waif of a girl-child who demanded your name and marital status before she'd escort you to an editor. As you eyed this pitiful girl-child with compassion and consternation, you may have wondered: "A war zone... here?"

Well, that tangle-headed waif, partially dressed in soiled, non-fitting garments, is a refugee all right, but not from war. That's our Andrea. And she's only one of the "Rehnquist refugees" around our house. Editor David has tossed all ordinary duties to the wind the past few weeks in his dogged quest for facts and data about Supreme Court nominee William Rehnquist, and—when we can catch our breaths—the rest of us just wish, wishfully, that we could crawl under the bed and sleep until it's over...

It has been exciting, what with phone calls from Washington, big name reporters from big name newspapers turning up on our doorstep, urgent pleas for inside news from The Networks, surreptitious visitors and clandestine meetings, Senators and Congressmen (well...the personal side of ONE U.S. Senator in Washington...and Clovis Campbell anyway), rumors and tips and...

Yes, it has been exciting. It's also been frustrating, time consuming, and a big bunch of patient, determined hard work.

For instance: fairly early in David's snooping around, the name of Bob Tate came up. It was a vague lead... someone knew someone who knew someone else who'd heard Mr. Tate talk about some trouble he'd had one year at the polls...

By the time Mr. Tate could be located and pinned down, another name appeared: Jordan Harris. Someone faintly remembered that Mr. Harris might have been involved in the trouble Mr. Tate had described. Both men proved hard to find. Both proved reluctant to talk to strangers.

When sufficient confidence had been established, however, to persuade them to talk, both said they recalled the incident, although they weren't sure when it happened. They mentioned some of the candidates on the ballot that year and some of the folks they'd seen at the polls, as if to verify their memory of the day. But neither could recall what year it was.

Sound absent minded? Hal YOV try it! What year did Lee Ackerman run for governor of Arizona? What year was Nixon defeated for President? Are you sure? You see, our two witnesses gave us two different "clues". One said the incident occurred the year Dick Kleindienst was running for governor. The other insisted it was the year

Letters To The Editor

The VOICE does not usually print letters that have also received circulation in the "Republic". More usually we print the letters that the "Republic" doesn't print. In the case of the letter from Paul Rademacher we changed our minds. It is a highly cogent commentary on the gut issues surrounding the Rehnquist appointment. It deserves widespread readership.

Letter to "Republic" Challenges "One Man's Opinion"

Editor, The Arizona Republic: by Democratic Central Committee which recently passed a resolution unanimously opposing the Supreme Court nomination of Mr. Rehnquist. Since Mr. Rehnquist is from this county, which represents 56 per cent of Arizona's population, and because these Democratic leaders have had first-hand

Research Fund Needs Help

A few weeks back a couple of thoughtful readers rebuilt our "research" fund. During the past three weeks, the fund has managed to develop a hole close to the $75.00 size. With the Rehnquist investigation on, it is remarkable how rapidly we have gone through a low three figure account just for long distance phone calls, copying testimony and other documents, tape, extra postage, and other supplies. If you would like to feel an added sense of participation, a few extra dollars sent to the VOICE Research Fund would do. A couple of people have donated time and services. One, a young man with no job, has spent hours every day searching out obscure facts. We have been giving him a $5 per week (I hesitate to use the word) honorarium. This last week, the volunteer investigators made the difference.

One Woman's Opinion

By Judy Hardes

Demo Women Cause Tempest Over New Ladies Auxiliary

Twenty-seven Democratic women, in a tension-packed, semi-secret luncheon meeting at the downtown YMCA November 15, heatedly debated the feasibility of organizing a county-level staff auxiliary.

Maricopa County Democratic Central Committee Chairman Mike Marusch, who has been attempting to forge a strong Eastside conservative bloc in the local party under the guidance of National Committeewoman Guy Stillman, called the planning meeting for a ladies' group attached to and part of the county organization to have voting power on the Executive Committee.

Nothing that to do this the County by-laws would have to be amended to allow for extra seats on the Executive Committee, Marusch stated he "would push this very hard."

Only 33 invitations, including five to representatives of Democratic clubs in the valley, were sent out less than one week prior to the Monday noon meeting. Almost all notices went to a carefully selected group of women in the Scottsdale area, a number of whom appeared to be primed to support Marusch in his attempt to form an auxiliary.

Several uninvited, politically active women in the area, including County vice-chairman Sandra Massetto, hearing of the meeting, included themselves in . . . to the obvious surprise of Marusch.

Marusch, throughout the often high-keyed meeting, stressed that he was not competing with the existing ladies' organizations (i.e. the four County clubs affiliated with the State Federation of Democratic Women's Clubs) in his attempt to "coordinate County activities," but said he wanted a separate organization affiliated with, and under the jurisdiction of the County, electing its own women to the Executive Committee. "I'd rather have you girls fight it out," he stated, indicating his desire to be "uninvolved" in the selection.

County vice-chairman Sandra Massetto, backed by the "girls crashers," stated emphatically that the local organization "should use the means we have now — not add positions time and again." Her supporters strongly expressed ed the opinion throughout the meeting that the women should be assimilated into the existing governing structure of the county organization and not be relegated to yet another female-oriented "service club."

It was pointed out that a chairman-appointed assistant vice-chairman vacancy on the County Executive Committee had existed since Marusch assumed office in September 1970 and that a woman could have been named to the position at any time during the past fourteen months as a show of faith.

(Sun City attorney Amelia Lewis is the only woman serving as an assistant vice-chairman at present. Prior to the luncheon Marusch informed one of the women present he was considering appointing yet another man to the Executive Committee. After the meeting he dodged criticism of his appointments by insisting — falsely — that no names of possible women candidates had been submitted to him during the past year.)

Stating he was "not planning to leave this meeting without action of some kind," Marusch, despite objections from the floor that it was "presumptuous and premature" to attempt to form such an organization without a representative sample of Democratic women present, demanded that the women in attendance elect a temporary chairman.

When the women, who agreed there was a need to coordinate working Democrats on a voluntary basis within the party, disagreed with the method presented, Marusch, aggressively backed by Scottsdale city councilman Mrs. Billie Gentry (now priming a 1972 campaign for County Board of Supervisors), appointed Mrs. Betty Sandeman of Scottsdale to serve as chairman and authorized her to form a committee to investigate further the organization of a women's auxiliary.

Marusch indicated he would call a county convention at a future date in an attempt to force a by-laws change, although he stated that the County Executive Committee had not taken a formal vote backing him on this action as of this date.

Neither county vice-chairmen Sandra Massetto or Mat Wheeler, had knowledge of the luncheon meeting until along these lines last spring.

What Happened To Rehnquist Files?

O.K. how about letting me share that which somebody has looked at (I could visualize a mountainous folder). "They'll be tied up indefinitely."

After we fenced back and forth awhile, the librarian finally allowed that she was not permitted to let anyone see the Rehnquist files and I would have to talk to management.

I called Ed McDowell, editor of the editorial pages, for whom I have considerable professional respect. Ed said he would check on the Rehnquist file and call me back. He did. The files would be available the following morning.

As I may have reported in a previous issue, I shared the contents of that file on Tuesday, October 26, with our local friendly FBI rep.

The startling thing was how small an accumulation of clippings on Rehnquist was in the file. Now, I might have been somewhat influenced by my previous day's vision of goodies... But the real goodies just weren't there.

Missing from the R & G file on Rehnquist were such delightful items as the two letters Rehnquist had written to the editor. These were the letters expounding his abysmal views on civil rights. I had searched state archives, going through consecutive papers. So I knew the letters existed. This knowledge shared with the Feebees resulted in a rapid Washington disclosure... No doubt they knew all along.

Also missing from the file was that charming piece of news reporting that positively documented Rehnquist's involvement with the radical right group of John Birch leaders called "Arizona's for America." Rehnquist was no less than an honored speaker, followed later in the year by such notoriety as Clarence Manion and Robert Welch. Speaker Rehnquist had been preceded by Willis Stone of the Liberty Lobby.

How could such delightful escape the thoughtful watchful eyes of my favorite librarians?

I asked. They rapidly assured me it was "clerical error." Just think, I — and you — may never know what other clips suffered the dismal fate of "clerical error".

Letters to Editor

ideological experiences with him, they are duty-bound to express their views regarding such a critical nominee.

In fairness to our country and in particular to Mr. Rehnquist, his nomination demands a rejection or approval based not upon rumor, partial facts, nor a Madison Avenue-type promotion, but on an open, fair, and complete investigation.

Democratic leaders or anyone else would be derelict in their duty should they withhold information that would affect the future direction of this country.

Mr. Wynn says that my resolution was unwisely. Some Democrats have a fundamental commitment to the party's principles, not only with fine words at election time, but genuine action in support of Indians, Mexican-Americans, blacks, the country, and all minorities' needs.

Where are the candidates of the past who spoke so well at election time and where are the potential candidates for the next election? Now is the time for those moving statements.

Comparing Mr. Rehnquist with John P. Frank, Mr. Wynn is mistaken. Mr. Frank is considered, and has been proven, one of the country's finest constitutional law, yers, who is used by the government as a constitutional authority because of his experience, sound rational judgment, and his complete history of judicious temperance.

Mr. Frank has been the country's leader in court reform, using prudence, and also he has authored many excellent court reform books.

It was Mr. Frank who described Mr. Rehnquist by a letter to the Senate Judiciary Committee as "an extreme conservative, an intellectual force for reaction, backward on civil rights," and "a supporter of police methods in the extreme."

Heavy Umbrella of Fear Inhibits Rehnquist Testimony

PHOENIX—(8-20) F—E—A—R. The very word claws at a man's gut. For the past three weeks, Phoenix has been numbed under the stupefying umbrella of fear.

And all because one man from this fair and friendly city has been nominated to the Supreme Court.

People ask... what manner of man is William Rehnquist? And fear settles like a blanket of fog over the people and their words.

This fear is pervasive. It is a sorrowful commentary on how far down we have come.

Poll workers refuse to testify against Rehnquist because "I will lose my job." Lawyers say this or that "off the record," then make public utterances quite the opposite. People are afraid.

Academics trip over words of praise when prudent facts of doubt abound.

The daily papers do no investigation—except to smear a witness. Radio and TV have their "priorities" to cover the news... the other news.

People are afraid. Those who vote and those who have been pulled out of line at the polls will tell you they know... but will not testify or sign affidavits.

The name "Rehnquist" brings a hush to conversations, as "someone" may overhear.

FBI, Republicans, and cut-of-state newsmen converge on each new lead...

And people freeze.

The press gives space and glory to name-calling unsupported by facts. And because all is under the aegis of the justice department, the fear of a long-arm reaches out.

The nomination of William Rehnquist has placed the Nixon hierarchy in the business of "timed" promotion with certain facts released now, others later... and the contradictory, confusing concealment of all Rehnquist's activities with the justice department.

Our congratulations go to the New York TIMES who, without sneering or name-calling, spoke out fearlessly last Sunday to urge a "no" vote on Rehnquist, based on ideological grounds.

If the facts will be known, the people will decide... fairly.

This government has a responsibility to remove itself from the Rehnquist history hide-and-seek game. The justice department files (no Rehnquist only) should be opened to the Senate. And a method to protect witnesses from possible or merely feared retaliation should be put into effect.

For a Justice of the Supreme Court, we should expect no less. For less, a country is ruled by fear. For less, the name of Rehnquist would become synonymous with fear.

It is not too much to expect to see unadorned facts.

Sworn Testimony Places Rehnquist at Poll Harassment

PHOENIX—(8-20) In previous issues of the VOICE I have recounted documentation of Rehnquist's involvement in voter challenging at the polls in 1958, 1960, 1962, 1964, and 1966. Simply, he was there.

Two men have now come forward to testify: Robert Tate and Jordan Harris. These men are sincere in their convictions. They brought forth their testimony after great deliberation. I know personally of one black leader who urged both men to speak only the truth, not to exaggerate or guess. From my initial contacts with the men, over two weeks ago, I feel that this counsel has been heeded.

It is perhaps for wiser men than I to determine whether Harris and Tate or Rehnquist is telling the truth, or what portion of the truth any is omitting.

Shortly after the testimony was released nationally, the Justice Department (of which Rehnquist is Number Three man) labeled the Harris and Tate testimony false. They offered as reason that the FBI had investigated a poll challenging incident in 1962 and could not establish Rehnquist's involvement.

The Harris-Tate testimony is for 1964. Perhaps the FBI is unaware that for many years the cronies of Rehnquist used indiscriminate harassment to keep minority peoples from voting in the Phoenix area. Apparently Rehnquist became so good at this that he was promoted to chief cook and bottle washer, for in 1966 he was the leader and ran two schools for challengers.

Harris and Tate were not alone in what they saw. It is just that, thus far, they have fought the fear surrounding the inner city precincts and have stood up to testify.

Affidavit of Jordan Harris

AFFIDAVIT

November 12, 1971

I, Jordan Harris, 1825 West Apache, Phoenix, Arizona, do hereby testify that on Tuesday, November 3, 1964, I was present as a deputized challenger for the Democratic Party in Bethune Precinct; a predominantly Black Precinct in South Phoenix, and witnessed the following incident:

I appeared at the polling place, Bethune Precinct, at approximately 11 a.m. on the above mentioned date, deputized by Judge Flood. When I arrived at the precinct I met with the election board committee and presented my official papers to them as a challenger for the Democratic Party. I met the Party challenger for the Republican Party, Mr. William Rehnquist at that time. I met with Mr. Rehnquist because I noticed him harassing unnecessarily several people at the polls who were attempting to vote. He was attempting to make them recite portions of the Constitution, and refused to let them vote until they were able to comply with his requests. The persons involved were Mrs. Mitchell, Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Miller. When I noticed he was pulling these people out of the line I then approached him and argued with him about his harassment of the voters. We then engaged in a struggle and the police were called in. Mr. Bob Tate came to my assistance during the struggle. The police then escorted him into the principal's office. Mr. Rehnquist and the police then left by the side door. I know that this man was Mr. Rehnquist because the election board introduced him to me as a challenger for the Republican Party. I believe that he did not leave the polling precinct altogether because I saw him across the street a short time later. He remained at the polling place well after 5 p.m.

Affidavit of Robert Tate

AFFIDAVIT

November 12, 1971

I, Robert Tate, 947 West Watkins Road, Phoenix, Arizona do hereby testify that on Tuesday, November 3, 1964, at a general election, I was present at Bethune Precinct, a predominantly Black precinct in South Phoenix and witnessed the following incident:

Mrs. Miller had come to cast her vote at Bethune Precinct. She was encountered within the 50' line by William Rehnquist and requested to recite the Constitution before she could be allowed to vote. Mrs. Miller came to me crying, stating that Rehnquist wanted her to recite the Constitution. A call was placed to Judge Flood's Office, a Justice of the Peace in South Phoenix, and Judge Flood came down to the precinct. At that time Judge Flood deputized Jordan Harris to try and assist me, as a precinct committeeman, to restore order at the precinct. I looked around and saw William Rehnquist and Mr. Harris, who has a deformity in one leg, struggling. I went to the assistance of Mr. Harris. A policeman came in and took Mr. Rehnquist into the principal's office. Shortly thereafter Mr. Rehnquist left Bethune precinct; however, a little later Mr. Rehnquist returned to the poll and parked his car across the street.

After Rehnquist left, I walked over to the policeman and asked him the name of the fellow involved in the harassment of Mrs. Miller and the struggle with Mr. Harris. The policeman informed me that his name was William Rehnquist.

I now remember him from pictures I have seen lately in the papers as the same one involved in the above incident at Bethune Precinct. He did not, at that time, however, wear glasses.

Letters To Editor

"Not At All Accurate..." Says Klahr

Editor, The Voice:
I would like to object to your editorial of November 11 entitled "Political Endorsements for Dollars Equals Prostitution". It just so happens that editorial was about 180 degrees from the real facts, and is not at all accurate in its facts or point.

It is totally untrue that I in any way solicited either an editorial endorsement or advertising space from the Street Press. To the contrary, Lester Perkins, the editor of the Street Press, came to me and said desperately that he needed money to publish another issue and would I take an ad. I told him that I could not afford a full-page ad at his usual rates, but that I wanted any advertising which $100 would buy.

I also asked Lester for any support he could give me, since he earlier indicated contrary to his first view, that he was supporting me and would be supporting me in the election. I did not ask for any commitment of an editorial or a news story, and indeed I did not even know what kind of editorial or news story, if any, had been printed until two days after the paper was out; when Lester appeared in my office to give me some copies. I never heard that Lester was making the kind of charge in your editorial—that I had approached him to buy editorial endorsement until I saw your own editorial on November 11.

It is further not true that Lester and I ever had an argument at my inner sanctum stores, since any argument he had was with my Tempe store manager, Ziggle Kahliz. As I recall, the discussion I had with Lester was over his contention that I would "sell out young people". Since I have been working with young people for years, without compensation or political motive, this is so funny as to be ludicrous.

In any event, I want to emphasize again that I never approached Lester asking him to print either an ad or editorial matter, but rather Lester approached me and asked for money for an ad, and I asked for additional support and received it.

I certainly hope that all of the young people in the community, as well as other persons, realize that I do not believe that you can achieve good ends by bad means. I may have made some mistakes or been imprudent in the conduct of my council race, but under no circumstances would I do anything as unethical as attempting to bribe an editor into printing favorable material. I hope young people realize that there are some politicians who do not stoop to those methods and who believe that you cannot achieve good ends by bad means.

Sincerely,
Gary Peter Klahr

We are happy to print candidate Klahr's version of the facts behind last week's editorial. Our source of information was identified in the editorial as Lester Perkins, Editor of STREET PRESS. We stand on our facts that it was an accurate reporting of the interview he gave us.

PHOENIX: Frank Brophy,

John Birch clubs are dedi-

Reference is made to this Bureau's memorandum of November 18, 1971, relating to allegations linking Mr. Rehnquist's name with Arizonans for America which information was reported in the press to have appeared in documents in the possession of [REDACTED] [REDACTED] indicated that material in his possession was furnished to him by the late Emily Brookes of Phoenix, Arizona.

The "Arizona Republic," a Phoenix newspaper, of April 15, 1960, contained a news item which is quoted:

"RANCHER Frank Brophy, slightly to the right of Hubert Humphrey, says that John Birch clubs are planned in Arizona.

"John Birch clubs are dedicated to fighting domestic and international communism.

"Robert Welch, of Massachusetts, founder of the John Birch clubs, will be in Arizona to conduct a statewide seminar next week. Welch also will address a public meeting of Arizonans for America the night of April 23 in Phoenix College Auditorium.

"Brophy, who was identified at one meeting as the leader of the conservative underground in Arizona, is leading member of Arizonans for America."

Frank Cullen Brophy, a member of the National Council of the John Birch Society, and active in Arizonans for America, advised November 18, 1971, that Mrs. Emily Brookes was unknown to him. He stated he has read somewhere or has been told in one of numerous telephone contacts that she had supposedly collected material on Arizonans for America. Brophy stated that she could not have collected very much information concerning Arizonans for America because there was very little to collect. According to Brophy, the group known as Arizonans for America was formed by a group of ladies initially and was later joined by some men, the purpose of the organization being to study and learn about the problems facing the country and this was accomplished by having speakers address the group. He said Arizonans for America was a very informal group, that there were no minutes and the organization kept no records. Mr. Brophy stated Mr. Rehnquist was never a member of Arizonans for America to his knowledge.

Mr. Brophy said he has been the recipient of numerous calls from the press concerning Mr. Rehnquist. He said Robert Welch, founder of the John Birch Society, would be in Phoenix November 19, 1971, and Brophy has resisted all efforts by the press to date to get any statements by Welch to the press concerning Rehnquist because he did not want to give more statements to be used against Rehnquist.

recorded [redacted]

[redacted]
[redacted] A Mrs. Emily Brookes, Phoenix, Arizona, deceased, had an avocation of studying extremist movements in the Phoenix area. He said Mrs. Brookes, while totally incapacitated, was concerned with Methodist affairs and enlisted several Methodist Church women to attend meetings of right-wing organizations and submit unsigned, handwritten reports to her.

In 1970, when stricken with terminal cancer, Mrs. Brookes forwarded her original files to [redacted]. She died in August, 1971. [redacted] added that shortly after announcement of Rehnquist's nomination to the Supreme Court, he was contacted by someone from Senator Birch Bayh's (Democrat-Indiana) office and was asked if he had the Brookes papers in his files. He replied affirmatively, searched the files and found two items in which the name Rehnquist appeared. He stated one of these was a list dated in November, 1959, which "contained the names of key people in 'Arizonans for America.'" The second item dated 10/10/60 "contains details of a strategy meeting for certain political candidates to be backed by the 'Arizonans for America.'" [redacted] has furnished Xerox copies of this material to the office of Senator Bayh.

Frank Cullen Brophy, who has previously furnished information in this matter, was reinterviewed November 19, 1971. He stated that Arizonans for America had been meeting for three or four years before the John Birch Society had gotten started in Arizona and there is no connection between the two organizations. He said Rehnquist was never active in either group and he, Brophy, was not aware that Rehnquist had ever spoken to Arizonans for America, but had read where Rehnquist had served on a panel on one occasion. He noted that people active in Arizonans for America would all have been fifteen or twenty years older than Rehnquist and he doubted that Rehnquist would have found much in common with them. Because of Brophy's activities in the John Birch Society and Arizonans for America, he would be aware of any activities of Rehnquist in such groups and most certainly if they were of any consequence. Brophy labeled the recent publicity about Rehnquist's involvement in such groups as complete falsifications and fabrications.

[redacted] is a relatively young man who probably would not know of all of Mrs. BROOKES' activity but should know the identities of some of the women. [redacted] is of the opinion that these women are likely to be members of the Womens Division of Christian Service.

[redacted] she had spoken with him on the telephone before forwarding the material, and from her conversation he is of the opinion that she had no knowledge of the details of Mrs. BROOKES' work or the identities of the people who worked with her.

The St. Louis Post Dispatch article refers to a telephonic interview with Mrs. FRANK WALDMAN of Phoenix, who expressed familiarity with the work done by Mrs. BROOKES.

WILLIAM H. REHNQUIST

On November 18, 1971, [redacted]

[redacted] advised a representative of the Federal Bureau of Investigation that for the past 35 years he has been an interested student in right-wing organizations and has studied and written about these groups during his entire academic life. [redacted] advised that he is a clergyman of the Methodist faith and has worked in his church with numerous commissions to investigate the extremist movement and was chairman of the Church's committee on extremism for a period of time.

[redacted] advised that in connection with his studies on extremism he was contacted by a Mrs. EMILY BROOKES of Phoenix, Ariz., who had an avocation of studying extremist movements in the Phoenix area. [redacted] advised that Mrs. BROOKES was totally incapacitated but was active in Methodist church affairs. She was well read, interested in current affairs, and was instrumental in having several women who were active in Methodist church affairs attend meetings of right-wing organizations and submit unsigned, handwritten reports to her. Mrs. BROOKES personally retyped these reports and often added her handwritten comments next to names which appeared therein.

This document contains neither recommendations not conclusions of the FBI. It is the property of the FBI and is loaned to your agency; it and its contents are not to be distributed outside

b6
b7C

WILLIAM H. REHNQUIST

In late 1970 Mrs. BROOKES became very ill with cancer and began to forward her original files consisting of source reports, clippings, lists, and throwaways to [redacted] [redacted] According to [redacted] these files filled approximately nine drawers of an ordinary filing cabinet and contained information on dozens of right-wing organizations and numerous individuals in the Phoenix area. [redacted] indicated that Mrs. BROOKES was accurate, well read, articulate, and that information she had furnished to him has not proven incorrect to date. He stated she was careful and detailed in her accumulation of data and was oftentimes critical of reports submitted to her as indicated by her handwritten notations on numerous reports.

[redacted] advised that Mrs. BROOKES operated out of her home and worked for no specific organization. He described her as a prolific letter writer who sent numerous letters to prominent Americans and leading Methodist clergymen concerning right-wing organizations and people associated with them. In these letters she set out details of the results of her research. [redacted] advised that Mrs. BROOKES died on August 4, 1971, and that [redacted] sent [redacted] the balance of her handwritten papers and notes which she collected almost up to the day of her death.

[redacted] advised that he considered Mrs. BROOKES to be a true "middle-of-the-road" type who was neither pro-left nor pro-right but considered fascism in America as great a threat as communism.

[redacted] advised that when WILLIAM H. REHNQUIST's name was announced a few weeks ago as a nominee for the Supreme Court he received a call from the office of Senator BIRCH BAYH (D.-Ind.) inquiring if he had the BROOKES papers in his collection. He answered affirmatively and they desired to know if the BROOKES files contained any information on REHNQUIST. After checking with [redacted] [redacted] as to the authenticity of this request he asked one of his graduate students, [ ] to search the files for any information on REHNQUIST. Upon return from a lecture trip [ ] was advised on about November 13, 1971, that their search was not fruitful. [ ] subsequently re-searched some of the BROOKES files and found handwritten and typed copies of two reports in which the name of WILLIAM H. REHNQUIST was located. [ ] advised that he did not have the originals of these documents in his immediate possession as they were secured at his university office. [ ] advised that one of the documents was a list dated November 1959 which contained the names of key people in Arizonans for America. He described Arizonans for America as the Arizona branch of a national organization, "For America" which has been described in numerous publications as an organ of the radical right. This list containing the name of WILLIAM H. REHNQUIST also includes the names of numerous individuals who are well known to [ ] as members of recognized right-wing organizations. [ ] noted that the handwritten notes on membership do not contain any further identifying data next to the name REHNQUIST.

The second report dated October 10, 1960, contains details of a strategy meeting for certain political candidates to be backed by the Arizonans for America.

[ ] advised he has no reason to question the authenticity of these reports and considers it extremely rare that the information submitted to Mrs. BROOKES was incorrect. He advised that he had no information whatsoever as to the informants utilized by Mrs. BROOKES nor did examination of material in the BROOKES collection further identify individuals utilized as sources by Mrs. BROOKES.

When this information was located [ ] advised the office of Senator BAYH that he had found the information and forwarded xerox copies to the Senator's office in Washington, D.C. [ ] also sent xerox copies of these reports to the Institute for American Democracy [ ]

[ ] advised that he desired the Institute for American

WILLIAM H. REHNQUIST

Democracy to handle the entire REHNQUIST matter since he was pressed by numerous academic commitments and had no staff to handle press inquiries.

On November 19, 1971, [redacted] made available to a representative of the Federal Bureau of Investigation xerox copies of documents from the BROOKES collection which he stated were the only apparently pertinent documents found. He furnished them in the sequence in which they were found.

The first is undated and is captioned, "FOR AMERICA: Against:" and identified by the longhand notation #15. [redacted] believes this document is by Mrs. BROOKES and that the longhand notations are hers. It includes among the names listed as Phoenix, Arizona members of Arizonas For America, the name WILLIAM H. REHNQUIST. The name was underlined by [redacted]

This was followed by a slip of paper, approximately 4 x 6 in. in longhand captioned, For America Members. This includes seven names of which the fourth is WM. H. REHNQUIST. [redacted] pointed out that he has no idea as to the author of this list or the longhand material which follows. He does not recognize the handwriting of the author or authors.

There are three sets of paper which appear to be in sequence, approximately 6 x 9 in. The first page is captioned, Oct. '60 - Meeting held by For America to support these people for office.

It is pointed out that the 4 x 6 sheet and the three 6 x 9 sheets all have the word "copied" written across them.

This is then followed by a typewritten sheet of paper approximately 8 1/2 x 11 inches in size which [redacted] believes was prepared by Mrs. BROOKES. He commented that he is familiar with her typing and her customary misspellings. The page is identified in the upper right corner with the number 12. Comparison of the typewritten material with preceding longhand material indicates that the various lists of names in the longhand material were copied in typing but in a different sequence. It is pointed out that the longhand item captioned, Oct. '60 - Meeting held by For America to support these people for office, appears to have been reidentified as a meeting of Oct. 10, 1960. Thereafter appears a portion of a typewritten line followed by the caption, For Am. members, after which there are listed the same names in the same sequence as they appear on the 4 x 6 sheet. The typist then skipped one line and added an additional name. [redacted] offered no interpretation as to whether the names listed as members were to be considered as having been present at the Oct. 10, 1960 meeting.

[redacted] furnished an additional typewritten page which he believed to have been prepared by Mrs. BROOKES. It is captioned, Arizona Rightist, and is marked in the upper righthand corner with the numeral 3. He furnished this sheet as of possible assistance as background on the organizations mentioned in the prior material. It is noted that this sheet, from dates included thereon, would have been prepared as recently as Oct. 6, 1961 or later. The name of Mr. REHNQUIST was not located on this sheet.

Copies of the items furnished by [redacted] are attached.

We received 12/10/71 from Deputy Attorney General Kleindienst a letter dated 11/19/71 to the Attorney General from [redacted]

[redacted] stating FBI Agents had interviewed [redacted] about his background and reasons for his conducting independent study on qualifications of Supreme Court candidate [redacted]

[redacted] noted that [redacted] had also been interviewed by FBI Agents concerning Supreme Court nominees William H. Rehnquist and Lewis Franklin Powell, Jr. [redacted] expressed a view that "many professors" might find the prospect of repeated FBI questioning into their motives and intentions seriously intimidating.

[redacted] when interviewed 10/18/71 re [redacted] and 10/26/71 and 10/27/71 re Rehnquist and Powell was never asked for any personal background information or why he conducted inquiries concerning [redacted]. He volunteered background data but was never asked for such information. He also volunteered he had reviewed decisions of [redacted] on his own as he believed her incompetent for U. S. Supreme Court. He said he had not made any studies concerning Rehnquist and Powell but that he could not say whether he would or would not make any inquiries or studies concerning them in the future. The suggestion that interviews of professors might be construed "intimidating" is completely without justification.

The 11/19/71 issue of the "Harvard Law Record" contains an article entitled "FBI Probes Tribe's High Court Research." This article indicates that [redacted] contemplated making some form of complaint with [redacted] expressing concern and [redacted]

In reply to your request of December 8, 1971, there is attached a suggested form of reply to letter of November 19, 1971, to the Attorney General from [REDACTED] [REDACTED] who made inquiries concerning this Bureau's investigations of Supreme Court candidates [REDACTED] Lewis Franklin Powell, Jr. and William H. Rehnquist. The letter from [REDACTED] is also enclosed.

Investigations by the FBI were conducted in October, 1971, at the Department's request into the qualifications of the above-named candidates and reports were furnished to you. The investigation included three interviews with [REDACTED] on October 18, 1971, October 26, 1971, and October 27, 1971. On October 18, 1971, he was interviewed following a news item showing he had conducted a review of [REDACTED] decisions which had been reversed on four occasions. He volunteered he had been a law clerk to one of the Justices of the California Supreme Court in 1966-67 and when reviewing [REDACTED] cases was aware of numerous reversals of her decisions and of her weaknesses and abilities as a judge. He volunteered information concerning his employment since [REDACTED]

He further volunteered that his review of [REDACTED] cases had been done "on his own" to make known her incompetence as a California judge and because he did not believe her competent to be the first woman to serve on the Supreme Court of the United States. He made available four cases in which [REDACTED] decisions had been reversed.

[REDACTED] was interviewed October 26, 1971, and October 27, 1971, concerning candidates Powell and Rehnquist. He was advised that recent press releases indicated he may have

He said he was not personally acquainted with either of these candidates. He stated he had not made any studies on these candidates but was naturally interested and concerned about Supreme Court nominees and was reading background information concerning them. He said he could not state at the time whether he might conduct studies on the nominees in the future. At no time was [redacted] asked what he planned to do with any study he had made or might make concerning an appointee. He was never asked for any personal background information or why he had conducted a study of [redacted] or the nature of his motivations. However, in the course of the interviews [redacted] did volunteer certain information concerning his background. During the course of the three interviews with [redacted] he was never critical of this Bureau or of its Agents and such interviews were conducted on a cordial basis. My dear [REDACTED]

Re: Your letter of November 19, 1971, from you and [REDACTED] to the Attorney General containing inquiries concerning investigations by the FBI into the background and qualifications of recent Supreme Court candidates has been received. Those investigations were conducted by the FBI at my request, and, as indicated in your letter, [REDACTED] was interviewed concerning nominees [REDACTED] Lewis Franklin Powell, Jr., and William E. Rohmquist. These investigations were conducted expeditiously and thoroughly and included numerous interviews.

I have been assured and I am convinced that the FBI did not make any inquiry concerning [REDACTED] background or the motives of anyone, including [REDACTED] for any independent study made or contemplated. The sole purpose of the FBI's investigations was to obtain information relevant to the qualifications of the candidates and any assumption that interviews were conducted with a view toward "intimidation" is completely unjustified.

DEPUTY ATTORNEY GENERAL

November 19, 1971

Dear Mr. Attorney General:

b6

Three times in October 1971, FBI agents visited or spoke with [redacted] concerning his research on potential or actual Supreme Court nominees. In the first instance, he was asked not only about a potential nominee's qualifications (those of [redacted] but also about his own background and his reasons for inquiring into her qualifications. In the last instance, he was asked whether he had done, was doing, or intended to do any study of the President's nominees, Mr. Rehnquist and Mr. Powell, and what he planned to do with the results of any such study. At no time did the FBI agents offer any explanation or justification for inquiring into [redacted] background and motivations.

Although we can readily understand an FBI investigation probing the qualifications of a person being considered by the President for nomination, we find it hard to imagine the purpose of some of the questions that were put in this case. What justification is there for the FBI's asking [redacted] to give "his reasons" for studying and communicating the qualifications of a potential Supreme Court nominee? Why should the FBI ask what he plans to do with the results of a similar study, should he undertake one, of an actual nominee?

We cannot escape the conclusion that many professors who are merely discharging a responsibility as lawyers and scholars concerned about the Supreme Court are likely to find the prospect of repeated FBI investigation into their motives and intentions seriously intimidating, however politely the FBI inquiries may be conducted. Because we trust that this is not your purpose, we have thought it important to call

Justice Says 3 Big Items In Fall Term

By Larry Wilson

The U.S. Supreme court will deal with landmark cases involving abortion, obscenity and school segregation at its fall term, Justice Harry A. Blackmun said Monday.

Blackmun spoke at the opening session of the 33rd Annual Judicial Conference of the 8th Circuit at the Hilton Hotel. More than 200 judges, lawyers and judicial workers are attending the conference from Nebraska, South and North Dakota, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri and Arkansas.

Also a guest of the conference is U.S. Supreme Court Justice William Rehnquist. Both were appointed by President Nixon.

Blackmun described the last session of the court as a "groping for the way" due to changes in membership of the nation's highest legal body.

'Some Indecision'

"It was a term of some indecision due to readjustment," he commented.

"The court is wondering just where the balance will be," Blackmun said, adding: "I suspect, although the court should be above this, that the election year is another factor in the indecision."

Blackmun said the new term won't be quite so "tough" as the last but that the volume will be greater.

"Obscenity is still with us," he said of fall cases pending on that subject.

One involves an allegedly obscene movie which permitted only "consenting adults" and barred juveniles; another concerns an illustrated magazine, which also was for "consenting adults" and a "pornographically obscene" but with all text, and no illustrations.

"I wouldn't dare forecast what the court will do," Blackmun said.

'No Forecasts'

He said a Texas law which permits abortion only for the purpose of saving the life of a mother is up for a test. Nebraska and 34 other states have similar statutes.

A broader and more liberal Georgia abortion law also is being questioned. This means, he said, that abortion laws in most states are "under challenge."

A Denver de facto school segregation case is on the docket for the next session.

Said Blackmun: "I suppose I say the obvious. Times have changed. Who would have thought, at least when I was a law student, that the court would be struggling with matters of social reform — the problems of public school systems, umpiring welfare rights, guarding environmental interests and the vastly expanded concept of civil rights."

Other Matters

The court has other weighty matters, Blackmun joked, mentioning the long-debated decision to change from a straight bench to a curved one.

Gov. J. J. Exon gave the welcome, saying he feels the death penalty is necessary for the "most heinous type of crime."

Missouri Gov. Warren Hearnes, who returns to the private practice of law at St. Louis after his second term, said he can't understand why there should be a different penalty for a criminal "who shoots a policeman or shoots me."

Said Hearnes: "My life is as good as his and, besides, he's being paid."

Sen. Roman Hruska outlined judicial changes being considered in the Senate. He is a member of the Judiciary Committee.

The session continues through Wednesday.

Presiding is Chief Judge M. C. Matthes of the 8th Circuit.

SUBJECT: COMMENTS ON "ARRESTS" BY
SUPREME COURT JUSTICE WILLIAM H. REHNQUIST

Re my memorandum to you, 10-7-74, entitled "The Congressional Record, October 4, 1974," in which was set forth remarks by Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr. (D-N.C.) concerning public remarks on "privacy" by an unidentified Supreme Court Justice. The memorandum indicated that Senator Ervin was obviously referred to a recent address by Justice Rehnquist.

Justice Rehnquist gave two lectures, 9-26 and 27, 1974 at the University of Kansas Law School entitled "Is an Expanded Right of Privacy Consistent with Fair and Effective Law Enforcement? Or: Privacy, You've Come a Long Way, Baby." A copy of Justice Rehnquist's remarks were obtained and are attached.

A review of Justice Rehnquist's text indicates he gave a broader review of the subject than indicated by the press or Senator Ervin. Rehnquist did state "An arrest is not a 'private' event. An encounter between law enforcement authorities and a citizen is ordinarily a matter of public record....To speak of an arrest as a private occurrence seems to me to stretch even the broadest definitions of the idea of privacy beyond the breaking point." Concerning the dissemination of arrest information among law enforcement agencies, the Justice at one point states "...I think it would be a rather bold person who would suggest that if one of the suspects in an investigation of a serious crime had a record of several arrests for similar offenses, that sort of information would not be of significant help to the investigating authorities." Concerning the distribution of arrest information to certain employers, Justice Rehnquist points out that respectable arguments can be made on either side of the question. His overall premise in this area appeared to be that "circumstances alter cases."

McDermott to Jenkins Memo
Re: COMMENTS ON "ARRESTS"

He concluded that "...a system which guarantees the apprehension in advance of all the political assassins of the country will be noticeably short on privacy, and a system which guarantees that there will be no mistakes in the execution of search warrants will be noticeably short on individual security and public order."

Honorable William H. Rehnquist
Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States
Washington, D. C. 20543

My dear Mr. Justice:

Thank you for the copy of your speech on the matter of privacy which you delivered at the University of Kansas Law School recently. I do appreciate this plus the fact that I am an alumnus of the University of Kansas and am very proud of the fact that you chose this site for such a fine discussion on privacy. This is something which has troubled the FBI, of course, and all law enforcement as a matter of fact, and it is most helpful to get your fine evaluation of this situation.

Sincerely,

1st Clarence

OF JUSTICE REHNQUIST. THE ISSUE CONCERNS AN ELECTION LAW
INVESTIGATION CONDUCTED BY THE PHOENIX OFFICE IN 1962
{PX 56-52}. ACCORDING TO TESTIMONY RECEIVED IN THE HEARINGS,
THE LOCAL REPUBLICAN PARTY IN PHOENIX ORGANIZED A CAMPAIGN
DURING THE ELECTIONS OF NOVEMBER 1962 TO USE THE THEN-VALID
LITERACY REQUIREMENTS FOR VOTING CONTAINED IN ARIZONA LAW AS A MEANS OF DISCOURAGING DEMOCRATIC VOTERS FROM EXERCISING THEIR

ACCORDING TO TESTIMONY OF [REDACTED]

IDENTITY HE CANNOT RECALL TO A POLLING PLACE IN SOUTH PHOENIX
WHERE HE ENCOUNTERED MR. REHNQUIST, WHO WAS THEN ACTIVE IN THE LOCAL REPUBLICAN PARTY. ACCORDING TO [REDACTED] HE HAD RECEIVED COMPLAINTS OF ELECTION LAWS VIOLATIONS EARLIER THAT DAY WHICH CAUSED HIM AND THE FBI AGENT TO GO TO THE VOTING
PLACE TO INVESTIGATE. HE TESTIFIED FURTHER THAT MR. REHNQUIST WAS A "CHALLENGER" TO VOTERS AT THE POLLING PLACE.

IT IS POSSIBLE THAT THIS POLLING PLACE WAS AT THE BETHUNE SCHOOL, ALTHOUGH [REDACTED] TESTIFIED THAT HE CANNOT RECALL THE EXACT LOCATION OF THE POLLING PLACE. {IT IS NOTED THAT AN

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

THE PRESIDENT OF THE UNITED STATES IS CONSIDERING THIS INDIVIDUAL FOR APPOINTMENT AS THE CHIEF JUSTICE OF THE SUPREME COURT. IF NOMINATED BY THE PRESIDENT, CONFIRMATION WOULD BE SOUGHT FROM THE U.S. SENATE BEFORE APPOINTMENT. {ALTHOUGH THE MEDIA HAS REPORTED THAT THIS INDIVIDUAL IS BEING CONSIDERED NO FBI EMPLOYEE SHOULD DISCUSS THE FBI'S BACKGROUND INVESTIGATION PROCEDURES WITH MEDIA REPRESENTATIVES.}

THE INFORMATION GATHERED BY VIRTUE OF THIS BACKGROUND INVESTIGATION IS AN INTEGRAL PART IN THE DETERMINATION OF THE CANDIDATE'S SUITABILITY AND WILL ACCORDINGLY BE DISSEMINATED TO THE DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE AND THE WHITE HOUSE. THIS INVESTIGATION UPDATES A PREVIOUS BACKGROUND INVESTIGATION COMPLETED DURING NOVEMBER, 1971. THE U.S. SENATE CAN BE EXPECTED TO HAVE ACCESS TO REPORTS OF THIS INVESTIGATION PRIOR TO CONDUCTING CONFIRMATION HEARINGS.

WHEN THE FBI WAS NOTIFIED OF THIS INDIVIDUAL'S CANDIDACY, DOJ ACTING IN BEHALF OF THE FBI, FURNISHED THE CANDIDATE: 1) A STANDARD FORM 86 ENTITLED "SECURITY INVESTIGATION DATA FOR

THE CANDIDATE WAS ASKED TO COMPLETE THE FORMS UPON RECEIPT AND, IN ADDITION, PROVIDE THE NAMES OF 10 OTHER INDIVIDUALS: 5 PEERS NOT ON THE COURT AND 5 INDIVIDUALS WITH WHOM HE INTERACTS BUT DO NOT HOLD HIS VIEWS. THE CANDIDATE HAS SINCE RETURNED THE FORMS DIRECTLY TO DOJ, WHO FORWARDED THEM TO FBIHQ.

UPON RECEIPT OF THIS TELETYPE, THE ASSIGNED SPECIAL AGENT SHOULD FAMILIARIZE HIM/HERSELF WITH THE MANUAL OF INVESTIGATIVE OPERATIONS AND GUIDELINES, PART II, SECTION 17, AND PART I, SECTION 77. IT IS ALSO HELPFUL FOR THE SPECIAL AGENT TO BE COGNIZANT OF MIOG PART II, SECTION 23-B.
