MEMORANDUM FOR MR. E. A. TAMM

2:03 PM

SAC Sears of the Philadelphia Office called with reference toha man by the name of Wrane, President of the Miss Beahm Philadelohia Liquor Dealers Association, who contacted him Miss Gandy and offered the association and the members of it to the Bureau as confidential informants. The association is considered to be a reputable one. Crane suggested that Sears address them in a group, but Sears stated he did not think this would be wise. He said he thought it would be better to start with Crane and let him point out those who are very reputable, particularly along the waterfront; contact those owners and tell them we do not want to hear all the arguments, but the important material, we would like to have. Sears stated we would be dealing with the owners of saloons and places along the waterfront where sailors from different ships congregate.

I told Sears I would get an opinion on this and he would be advised accordingly.

Respectfully,

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. LADD

Reference is made to the Director's memorandum to Mr. Tolson dated October 18, 1941, relative to the suggestion of Special Agent Beale that the symbols designating confidential informants of this Bureau be changed from time to time. While it is recognized that this suggestion has some merit, it is not believed to be practicable for the following reasons.

The Bureau has approximately 13,000 Plant Informants and 7,000 National Defense Informants listed in its records in the Chief Clerk's Office. To change the symbol on these informants would entail a tremendous amount of clerical work, both in the Bureau and in the Field, and in some instances might possibly lead to considerable confusion. It is to be noted that a Special Agent in Charge has the authority to change the symbol of a confidential informant whenever he sees fit to do so for any reason deemed appropriate by him, and in some instances symbols have been changed for various reasons. It does not appear, however, that the symbols of all of these confidential informants should be changed to anticipate the remote possibility foreseen by Agent Beale.

There should also be taken into consideration providential into that an Agent of the Bureau working with certain confidential into 1941 formants becomes aware of the identity of these informants, the UV 10 1941 locality in which they are working and of the organizations provident they are conversant and the type of information which they are conversant and the type of information which they are conversant and the type of information which they are conversant and the type of information which they are conversant and the type of information which they are conversant and the type of information which they are conversant and the type of information which they are conversant and the type of information with they are capable of furnishing the Bureau. When the Agent leaves the Bureau he naturally and necessarily takes this information with him. In a great many instances, reading a Bureau report in which information furnished by a specific confidential informant with whom the former Special Agent is conversant is mentioned, the former Special Agent would very probably recognize the source of information in spite of the fact that the symbol is changed.

MEMORANDUM FOR MR. LADD

It would appear, therefore, that to attain the end visualized by Special Agent Beale, a tremendous amount of work not commensurate with the benefit to be derived, would have to be expended at this time when the efforts can be ill afforded.

MENORANDUM FOR MR. TOLSON

Bhen I saw Special Agent Beale yesterday, he made a suggestion which I believe is worthwhile having considered by the Executive Conference. It was to the effect that it might be desirable for the Bureau from time to time to change the designation of its confidential informants. He stated that with employees leaving the Bureau and going to other intelligence branches of the Government, some of these employees in due course in connection with their duties may have occasion to handle work similar to ours and, in fact, may handle some of our reports in the agencies to which they go. He stated that while certain informants are designated by numbers or letters, yet the real identity of these informants will be known to such persons, and he suggested, therefore, that these number and letter designations be changed from time to time so as not to make it so easy to decode the identities.

I think this is a worthwhile suggestion and would like to have the views of the Executive Conference upon it.

First, it was pointed out that at the present time the Bureau has 1300 plant informants and 7000 National Defense informants: that to change the designations used for these 20.000 confidential informants would entail a transmisus amount of clarical work and would romult in great confusion in indexing in the files. Mr. Beller of Colonel Donovan's Office called and stated he has in his possession a letter from a Congressman from Florida to Nelson Pointer, Director of their Radio and News Branch, which letter Mr. Pointer believes has merits.

Mr. Homer Lyle of Tampa, Florida wrote to the Congressman and suggested using various investigating agents of the insurance companies to help in connection with investigations carried on by services of the government.

Mr. Beller stated he will send a copy of this letter to the Bureau for the Bureau's information in the event it is interested in this suggestion. I told Mr. Beller we would appreciate having the letter very much because we have made some contacts with the Association of Insurance Companies in New York and this suggestion would be in line with what we are already doing.

With further reference to my conversation of some time ago, Homer E. Lyle, 1507 Morrison Avenue, Tampa, is the one who suggested the use of various investigating agents of the insurance companies, in connection with the Intelligence Service of the Government.

The idea appealed to me very much and that is the reason I called you. I was not sure whether or not I had given you Mr. Lyle's address, hence this letter.

Since I talked with you, he has told me that he was an aviator in the last war, a commissioned officer, and that he has been in the insurance company business and this type of work since his honorable discharge, for nearly twentyfive years.

We stated his brother-in-law was a ski expert of considerable experience and had been educated in Switzerland, and could speak German and Swiss excellently. In proofreading the above section of the National Defense Manual, the following passages were observed to be obsolete, and it is suggested that you bring up for consideration at the executive conference the changes outlined below.

GCC:MM

Page 6, the last sentence of the paragraph which carries over from the previous page reads "The Bureau of course in these cases must be advised by a separate communication marked 'Confidential,' reflecting the identity of such individuals referred to in reports." It is suggested that the sentence be changed to read as follows: "The Bureau of course must be advised of the identity of such individuals by a separate sheet attached at the end of the report. This page must be detached from copies of any report furnished to any person or agency outside of the Bureau." This change is in accordance with Section I of Bureau Bulletin No. 40, First Series of 1941, dated September 10, 1941, which was prepared after the executive conference approved this section of the National Defense Manual.

Memorandum for Mr. Ladd

Field Offices should also develop informants, contacts and sources of information in all other industrial facilities important to the National Defense which are located within their respective jurisdiction." This change is necessitated by the recent developments in plant survey matters.

The following errors were also noted in proofreading this section of the manual: on page 3 in the penultimate paragraph, line 3, the word "does" should be "do." On page 5 in the second full paragraph, line 2, the word "clearly" is misspelled. In the same paragraph, line 6, the word "informant" should be "informants."

In this connection, one vital weakness in such meetings is the natural inability of the confidential informant or contact to remember every detail of the conversation and otherwise which may have passed between the subject and himself. Such a problem presents itself in many of our major cases today and it is feared that much valuable information is lost, not through the inefficiency of our informants or contacts but through the human impossibility of remembering every detail of a meeting of any lengthy period of time.

It is recommended that immediate consideration be given by the Technical Laboratory to arranging for the installation and proper operation of a Vaidaphone Recording/Detect-O-Phone and a portable transmitting set and receiver to be used by the confidential informants in four of our major espionage cases when these informants are in the presence of subjects of the respective investigations. The informants in the to utilize this equipment are: mtitled "Kurt Adam, Espionage (G)"; Confidential Informant whose alleged connections with German espionage activities are presently being exploited by the Bureau; Confidential Informant whose services are being utilized in connection with the investigation of Italian espionage activities in this country; and Confidential Informant whose services are being utilized in connection with an investigation of the Amtorg Trading Company and Russian espionage matters

The possibilities of this equipment as an asset in investigations were particularly brought out during the recent investigation of the Japanese case entitled "Itaru Tachibana, with aliases; ET AL; Espionage (J)". In this case, the portable transmitting radio set was concealed under the shirt of the informant. The receiving and recording equipment was located in a Bureau car. The Agents in the car containing the receiving and recording equipment were able to hear the informant enter the subject's residence and to hear the conversation that ensued inside the building between the informant and the subject. At the same time the recording device was recording the conversation on a plastic record. The reception on this occasion was fair although there were some noises that interfered with clear reception. However, the conversation could be overheard and the playback of the plastic record contained a complete and audible record of the entire conversation that took place between the informant and the subject. It is to be noted that on this occasion the power for the receiving and recording equipment was from a storage battery in the car.

CONTRACTOR

On a subsequent occasion in this investigation this technical equipment was again utilized at which time the recording and receiving equipment was placed in an apartment on the fourth floor of an apartment building approximately fifty yards north of the residence in which the informant met the subject. On this occasion, the power for the receiving and recording equipment was furnished by the regular standard llO-volt power of the martment house rather than from a storage battery as was the case when the equipment was in the car. The reception on this latter occasion was very clear and exceptionally good. The only interference was occasionally when the portable Bureau radio set in the apartment was used to communicate with Bureau Agents located in cars outside the building. When this Bureau portable set was used to broadcast to the other Agents a slight interference was noted in the receiving and recording equipment which was receiving the conversation between the informant and the subject.

In the above instances the use of the equipment was furnished by the Vaidaphone Company without charge to the Bureau for test and demonstration purposes. After a review of the recordings, obtained by utilizing playback equipment of the Vaidaphone Company at Los Angeles, the records were forwarded to the Bureau Laboratory for examination, at which time the Laboratory advised that these records could not be played back on standard playback equipment and would be maintained until suitable playback equipment was obtained and the records further examined. The results of this examination are not known to the writer nor is it known if the above equipment is available to the Laboratory at the present time.

It is believed that from an investigative standpoint the use of such technical equipment presents tremendous possibilities. Its mobility and the fact that it can be placed into effect at a moment's notice are also to be considered.

Memo for Mr. Ladd

As stated above, it is recommended that arrangements be made by the Laboratory whereby this equipment will be furnished to the New York Field Division of the Bureau at the earliest possible moment to be used in connection with several above mentioned espionage investigations presently being conducted by that Office.

For your further information concerning the details and purposes of this technical equipment a copy of a letter from Joe E. Vaida, President of the Vaidaphone Company, is attached.

Respectfully, Harry M. Kimbe

THE VAIDAPHONE RECORDING DETECT-O-PHONE

There has been a long felt need by various law enforcement agencies for a system to obtain evidence in cases where the conventional microphone and amplifier system is impractical. For example, consider the conversations that take place on a moment's notice on street corners, in automobiles, bars, restaurants, hotel rooms, private homes, and many other places.

To fill this need the Vaidaphone Company has developed a wireless, recording detect-o-phone unit for both fixed and portable operation. This system consists of four main parts:

- Concealed wearable transmitter
 High frequency receiving equipment
 Reference recording equipment
 Portable power supply equipment

- (1) The wearable transmitter part of the system consists of a special ultra high frequency transmitter, complete with microphone and batteries, all contained in a special chest harness. The transmitter itself is 4x6x7/8 inches. Total weight of this equipment is less than 3½ pounds. With full equipment on a person, it is perfectly concealed, as the batteries fit underneath the ampits and the transmitter lies flat against the chest. Measurements around the chest is increased by 2 inches. Microphone may either be worn in the coat sleeve on a special wrist band or on the chest.
- (2,3) The high frequency receiver, combined with the reference recorder, afford a very complete service of receiving and recording the transmissions from the powerful midget transmitter. The receiver is of the ultra high frequency wide band frequency modulated type. The recorder will record continuously on each side of a thin 12 inch plastic disc for either 31 or 62 minutes. Recording is of the embossing constant groove speed type, insuring simple, foolproof operation and constant fidelity. Both units are mounted in portable carrying cases and are designed to operate from standard 110 AC current. By use of the portable power supply equipment, they operate from the 6 volt heavy duty battery furnished. Accessory units furnished with this equipment are antennas for portable, fixed or mobile use and a hand microphone for use in identifying records, and earphones. Recorder and receiver each weigh approximately 55 pounds.
- (4) Portable power supply equipment includes battery, charging equipment, vibrator converters and necessary remote control equipment. Complete portable power supply equipment, including storage battery, weighs: approximately 30 pounds.

Inspector Myron E. Gurnea Federal Bureau of Investigation U. S. Department of Justice Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Gurnea:

GCC:MM

I am considerably concerned about the condition of the Bureau's National Defense and Plant Informants. There seems to be, on the part of the field, a marked inability to distinguish between Confidential Informants and Sources of Information. The Confidential National Defense Informant files too often contain the names of individuals who are but Sources of Information. There also appears to be a condition of neglect of informants after they have been developed. In other words, the informants are not being recontacted by the agents and I am sure that you will appreciate the gravity of this situation. To develop an informant and then neglect his is a waste of time and effort. The frequency with which the field contacts informants must be determined by each individual case and no blanket regulation pertaining thereto can be laid down at the Seat of Covernment. The situation reflects a lack of proper Field Office administration and I wish you to devote particular emphasis to it.

It is my opinion that the Confidential Informant files contain a large quantity of "deadwood" and I want this eliminated. I also desire that emphasis be placed on procuring the right types of individuals as Confidential National Defense Informants in the future. In other words, the emphasis should be on quality as well as on quantity.

UP30398ECEIVED-ROOM 5640 I feel that we should continue to make discreet inquiries concorning individuals when we intend to use as Confidential Informants, with a view to preventing the Bureau from being embarrassed by the actions of hese individuals and in order to insure, insofar as it is possible to do se, that we obtain reliable information. I do not, however, desire that a complete and thorough investigation, such as is conducted of applicants, be made regarding Confidential National Defense Informants and Confidential Plant Informants. It must be remembered that under certain direumstances the life of the informant, his reputation and most certainly his value to the Bureau may be seriously threatened if his connection with the Bureau as an informant becomes from. This must be taken into consideration when consideration the investigation to be conducted concerning ENED-DIBECTO. Confidential National Defense and Confidential Plant, Informants. surst.

Doar In. Ecan:

Miss Gandy

In answer to your letter of Octobor 24, 1941, at Mantington, West Virginia, with reference to Confidential National Defense Informants and Confidential Plant Informants, I wish to advise you that your cornents and suggestions have been very carefully reviewed and considered with regard to the investigation of informants.

I an not in accord with your suggestions that a thorough and complete investigation be conducted of every individual to be used by this Pureau as a Confidential Informant. I feel that the investigation conducted should be of such a nature as to reasonably satisfy the Bureau of the reliability of the informant. The investigation must necessarily be discreet and consequently it is not advisable to conduct any more investigation than is necessary to obtain a reasonable degree of certainty as to the informant's reliability. The amount of investigation will, of course, depend upon each individual case and no universal rules can be laid down concerning this type of investigation. Most certainly, however, the investigation of an informant will not approach, and should not approach, the thoroughness and completer m ness of the type of investigation conducted by the Bureau of applicants for employment.

It must be remembered that, under certain circumstances, the life, the reputation, and certainly the value of the Confidential Informant may be seriously threatened if his identity and connection with the Europa -become known. These things must be taken into consideration when considering Mr. E. A. Tamin the extent of the investigation to be conducted concerning Confidential Mr. Creza V -Informants. Mr. Glavin

Mr. Ladd The reason for investigating Bureau informants is to obtain as nust information concerning them as is reasonably possible in order to Mr. Nichols minimize the possibility of the Bureau being enbarrassed by the actions Mr. Tracy of these individuals and in order to insure that we will obtain reliable Mr. Rosen information. To extend and prolong the investigation as suggested by you Mr. Carson me comer would entail a tremendous expenditure of investigative time and personnel. mr. Handen _____ and I am of the loginion that the bonefit to be derived would not be justified. Mr. Holloman 5 3 13 Et 18 2 5 15 - DEC 2 1985 Mr. Quina Tamm Mr. Nesse

Inspector Egan

I am also of the opinion that, unless peculiar circumstances of a certain particular case warrant it, no investigation should be conducted of persons who refer Confidential Informants to the Bureau. Our investigative personnel will not permit this.

I am considerably concerned over the failure of the Field Offices to properly distinguish between Confidential Informants and Sources of Information. I am also at a loss to understand why agents in the field are not maintaining contacts with the informants developed.

With regard to the Plant Informants, you will remember that the program was undertaken in the stress of an emergency, and it was necessary to have a wide coverage in a minimum amount of time, which has resulted in instances where the right type of individual was not procured, and it is my desire that we eliminate the "deadwood" in both this type of informant and the Confidential National Defense Informant. In your contacts with the field I wish that these points be emphasized.

With regard to the specific instance to which you make reference in the Huntington, West Virginia, Office, I feel that, bearing all the facts and circumstances in mind, the agent went far enough in his investigation, but this informant was very poorly handled by the Huntington Office after being developed, and your point is well taken that such situations exist too often. They reflect a lack of proper Field Office administration and must be corrected.

Very truly yours,

I don't feel that enough supervision is given to the write-ups submitted by Field Offices on the above types of Informants. The Field Offices are instructed to submit the information by letter. I have had an opportunity to review the memoranda submitted by the Buffalo Office and the Huntington Office on the above types of Informants, and I find that in both instances the investigations are incomplete, and it appears that an effort is made on the part of the offices to submit just a large number of names, regardless of their value. In some instances I find that Informants are referred to our offices by some foreigner of either Russian or Italian extraction. An investigation is conducted of the person referred to the office, only a partial investigation in a majority of cases, yet there is nothing in the file that any character investigation of any kind was conducted of the one who referred the Informant to this office.

I have a specific case in mind which I shall give you. There are many others, but I do not feel it is necessary to make this letter unduly long. The following is a copy of a memorendum in File 66-219:

It is noted in the first paragraph that the Agent states that this Informant was referred to him by NORMAN FERRARI, a Justice of the Peace of Weirton, West Virginia. This Justice of the Peace is an Italian. I endeavored to check the index to secure a file on FERRARI but was unable to find any card index whatever in this office. I did find, however, that his name was misspelled, and a further check was made, but still without success. It is also noted that the Agents contact Ex-Agent BANGERT at the Weirton Steel Company on everyone in Weirton. He may or may not have a good file, but nevertheless a further investigation should be made in Weirton. It is also noted that this man came to this country in May 1921 and was not naturalized until January 6, 1941. He was previously employed in Wheeling, West Virginia, and Steubenville, Ohio, but no check was made of his credit record or at the Police Departments in those cities.

It is believed that some Supervisor at Washington should be assigned to review the letters sent in on these various Confidential b7D

National Defense and Confidential Plant Informants because I feel sure that we are not developing the proper type of Informants. If it were a question of sabotage the matter would probably be reported by the plant officials, but if it were espionage or relative to any Italian, Russian, or German activities, we would not be informed because, in the first place, I don't think we have the right type of Informant, and, in the second place, all that is done with the cards is that they are filed in an office, and there is no indication that any future contacts have been made. In other words we have a number of cards in the office listing Confidential Informants and they are forgotten.

In this particular case	is which is indicated in the report of an Agent of this office supply a list of the officers, mem the organization. This was in Aug office indicate that we have been	attempting through the Sheriff's Office and through the State Polic	e since January to secure information relative to this organizati	on, and neither has answered to date. After this, a memorandum wa	s made and initialed for the Number One Man, Agent FAWCETT. No	lead card was ever made to secure any further information as to this	organization from this Informant.

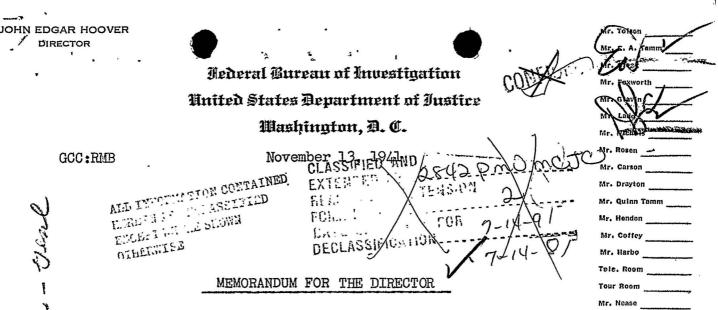

This is submitted as a suggestion made upon my review of the investigations conducted of Confidential Informants by the above two offices. It is also noted that in maintaining the memoranda of investigations on Confidential National Defense and Plant Informants that they are maintained in a 66 file, and in order to check the investigation on any of the Informants it is necessary to thumb through an entire file because they are not serialized and the cards do not show the dates of the memoranda. I think steps should be taken to give this class of investigation a different classification number, or instructions should be issued that they be seralized and the card indicate the serial number in order to save time in reviewing the investigations on this type of Informant.

I wish to make reference to the letter of October 24, 1941 from Inspector J. S. Egan concerning the development and supervision of Confidential National Defense Informants and Confidential Plant Informants. It appears that Inspector Egan is of the opinion that more thorough investigations should be conducted of Confidential National Defense and Confidential Plant Informants, and that in addition thereto, investigation should be conducted of the individuals who refer informants to the Bureau Offices.

To date there have been developed 15,247 informants in 2,445 industrial plants. In addition, there are, at the present time, 6,005 Confidential National Defense Informants.

Bureau Bulletin No. 17, First Series 1941, dated May 15, 1941, requires the Field to conduct certain discreet inquiries in order to determine the background and reliability of informants. This information is submitted to the Bureau in letter form. These letters are carefully reviewed upon receipt in the Bureau to ascertain if sufficient information has been procured by the Field to determine the reliability of the informants. In addition to this, a name search is instituted in the Bureau files to ascertain if there is contained therein any derogatory information concerning the informants.

It was never contemplated that complete investigations, such as are conducted of applicants for Bureau positions, should be instituted concerning Confidential National Defense and Confidential Plant Informants. There appears to be no reason for conducting such an investigation. A Bureau employee will be placed in a position of trust and will have access to confidential information in the Bureau files and will be cognizant of the Bureau's activities. These things are not true of Confidential Informants, and therefore the investigation concerning Confidential Informants need not be as thorough as those conducted of applicants for Bureau positions,

The necessity for guarding the identities of our Confidential Informants is very apparent, and it must be borne in mind that widespread inquiries concerning them cannot help but tend to destroy the secrecy which must surround the identity of Confidential Informants. If this secrecy is destroyed, harm may result to the informant, and most certainly his usefulness will be impaired. Further, if the informant becomes aware of inquiries concerning him, he may adopt an antagonistic attitude toward the Bureau. The idea in investigating Bureau informants was to obtain as much information concerning their reliability as was reasonably possible in order to minimize the possibility of the Bureau being embarrassed by the actions of these individuals. and in order to assure that the Bureau would obtain reliable information. To extend and prolong the investigation of informants as suggested by Inspector Egan would entail a tremendous expenditure of investigative time and personnel. In my opinion, the benefit to be derived would not be justified, and for this reason I am of the opinion that the type of investigation desired by Mr. Egan is impractical at this time. Most certainly it is out of the question to expect to conduct such a type of investigation with the present investigative personnel of the Bureau.

It must be remembered that the development of Plant Informants was undertaken in the stress of an emergency. It was necessary for the Bureau to have a wide coverage in a minimum amount of time. The reasons for this are well-known to you. Naturally in such a large undertaking, executed with the speed required in this case, there have been isolated instances where the right type of individual was not procured. Every effort is being made to get rid of this "dead wood" and in communications to the Field, as well as in lectures to classes of new Agents and to Inservice Schools, the importance of obtaining the services of informants who are in positions to furnish the Bureau with good information is emphasized.

Likewise the importance of distinguishing between Confidential Informants and sources of information and contacts is being constantly stressed. It is noted that Inspector Egan has noticed that in many instances the Field is not maintaining contact with its informants. The importance of this is also being constantly emphasized by the Bureau and will continue to be emphasized, both in Training Schools and in communications issuing from the Bureau to the Field.

CONTRACTION

In this connection, however, it must be realized that the Bureau cannot lay down any blanket rules and regulations pertaining to the re-contact of informants. The matter of maintaining contact with informants is very definitely a matter of Field Office administration. The frequency of the contacts must be determined by each individual case.

With regard to paid informants, the Bureau does, however, require that the Field periodically advise the Bureau concerning information being furnished by such informants.

In regard to the particular case to which Mr. Egan makes reference in the Huntington, West Virginia, Office, I am of the opinion that sufficient investigation was conducted. The Agent interviewed two officials of the Weirton Steel Company where the informant was employed at the time, and both gave him satisfactory reports concerning the informant. It must also be remembered that the informant had been constantly employed by the Weirton Steel Company since or in other words for a period of 15 years, which in itself is some indication that he was not unreliable.

After contacting these two officials, the Agent interviewed the informant's immediate superior and received favorable information from him. He then made a check for a criminal record on the informant with negative results. The Agent then contacted the local credit agency where the Assistant Manager advised that she was personally acquainted with the informant and that she considered him to be patriotic and that he possessed a good reputation in the community. It also appears that the Agent personally interviewed the informant, was agreeably impressed with him, and procured considerable background information regarding the informant.

With regard to the lack of investigation at noted by Mr. Egan, the investigating Agent apparently did not deem inquiries at those places necessary, in view of the informant's location at for such a long period of time and his good reputation in that community. I must state, that in view of the relationship which was to exist between the Bureau and the informant, I am inclined to concur in the Agent's judgment.

Memorandum for The Director

With regard to Inspector Egan's comments concerning the lack of any investigation pertaining to Norman Ferrari, Justice of the Peace at Weirton, West Virginia, who referred the informant to the investigating Agent, it must be remembered that in spite of the fact that this man possesses an Italian name, he is a judicial officer and is undoubtedly an American citizen or else, in all probability, he could not hold the position which he occupies. For us to embark upon a program of investigating every individual referring a possible Confidential Informant to us, would necessitate a considerable increase in our investigative personnel which would not seem to be justified by the results to be obtained.

The lack of an index card on Ferrari in the Huntington Field Office, and the fact that the Huntington Field Office attempted to obtain information concerning the Lega Abbruzzese di Mutuo Succorso from local law enforcement officials when the informant apparently had the information and had volunteered to furnish it, does not, in my opinion, indicate a lack of proper supervision of informants on the part of the Seat of Government, but rather it indicates a deficiency in Field Office administration.

Supervision at the Seat of Government would not disclose these administrative deficiencies noted by Inspector Egan to exist in this connection in the Huntington Field Office.

DEFENSE INFORMANTS.

Re PAID CONFIDENTIAL NATIONAL DECLASSIFIED BY

The Director has instructed that a careful check be maintained Miss Gandy to determine that all paid confidential informants are producing. This instruction was in the form of a notation made on a memorandum submitted by Supervisor T. J. Scott, dated November 21, 1941, directed to Assistant Director W. R. Glavin, relative to the number of regularly paid informants being authorized by the Bureau.

In this connection, you will be interested in the procedure which has been in effect in the Plant Survey and Sabotage Section for some time. I believe that if properly adhered to, this method of Supervision will afford adequate supervision of the paid informant situation in the field.

Briefly outlined, the procedure is as follows: A field office contacts an individual who it believes would make a valuable confidential The name of this informant, together with his background informant. and brief personal history, must be submitted to the Bureau, as well as an outline of the type of information which it is expected he will be able to furnish to the office. This information is closely scrutinized. and if from his personal background it appears he may be in a position to furnish the information in accordance with the opinion expressed by the Special Agent in Charge, authority to pay him is granted. First, however, his name is searched against the indices of the Bureau so that all information available concerning him will be in the Bureau's possession when arriving at its decision. IND

66-2542-3- 105X The Special Agent in Charge in each instance is required to make a definite and personal recommendation with respect to the employment of the informant and the amount to be paid to him. The authority granted in accordance with the recommendation of the Special Agent in Change is for a limited period, generally three months. Property the expiration of the three months' period, the Special Agent in the arge must submit a summary or outline of the information furnished by the informant during the period of authorization, together with an expression of his opinion as to the informant's value to his office, and a further recommendation regarding the continuation of the payments to the informant. The outwhe Information furnished is carefully studied, considering of course the amount paid to him, and a decision is reached as to whether or not the judgment exercised by the Special Agent in Charge is sound and should be approved.

In questionable cases, a consultation is held with the National Defense Supervisor who has had the supervision of most of the cases in which the informant in question has furnished information. If we then feel that the judgment of the Special Agent in Charge is sound, further authorization is granted for another definite period of time, usually three months, as in the first instance. This procedure is repeated throughout the duration of the informant's employment, and thus a continuous running check is maintained at the Seat of Government concerning his value, the amount paid to him, and the information which he is furnishing.

The Special Agent in Charge is required to immediately advise the Bureau of any circumstances which may arise which in any way affect the status of any particular informant. Should the informant's position change so that his value diminishes, the Special Agent in Charge is required to advise the Bureau fully and make another recommendation for a decreased remuneration. Of course, the reverse of this is also true. If the informant appears entitled to increased payments due to new circumstances, the Bureau must likewise be notified.

October 14, 1941, the New Orleans office requested authority to again engage as a confidential informant, and the letter set out the following facts:

Her position enabled her to be present in the offices of the Communist Party in New Orleans, and to have frequent contact with the above-mentioned individuals. She would of course be able to observe correspondence between the Louisiana branch of the Communist Party and ()

b7D

COMPARENTIAD

the headquarters in New York City, and would also be able to inform concerning the activities of the Communist Party in Louisiana. In view of this information, the authorization requested by the New Orleans office was granted by the Bureau for a period of three months

On November 14 the New Orleans office advised that this informant had been promoted to a position as Communist Party in the State of Louisiana; that she had gained the confidence of leading Party members; that she was submitting daily reports to the New Orleans office covering the general activities of the Party in Louisiana and the actions of and that she was also submitting reports on the financial affairs of the Communist Party in New Orleans. The bank account of the Party is being carried jointly under name and that of according to the information submitted by the New Orleans office. The Special Agent in Charge at New Orleans recommended that her salary be increased to per month, effective November 30, 1941, and this request was granted by the Bureau for a period of three months, in view of the increased value to the New Orleans office of this informant, as evidenced by the report of the New Orleans office on her activities

While the procedure followed in the Plant Survey and Sabotage Section has afforded adequate supervision for informants, it should be pointed out that it is absolutely essential that all matters of this nature be handled by my office or cleared through the Plant Survey and Sabotage Section if the procedure is to continue to be effective.

I should like to take this opportunity also to call to your attention the inadvisability of granting authorization to the various field offices to pay confidential informants for an indefinite period of time. This has been done by Bureau officials and Supervisors in the past. It is obvious that where authorization is granted for an indefinite period of time, the Bureau loses all contacts with the payments which are being made to the informant, and it is all too easy for the Bureau to entirely lose track of such informants. We then become entirely dependent upon the judgment of the Special Agent in Charge. Since the procedure that is normally followed only requires the writing of four letters a year to the Bureau, it does not seem to be an unreasonable request or an unreasonable burden upon the field, yet it affords us at the Seat of Government a current picture of the informant situation.

Respectfully,

R. H. Cunningham.

In connection with the Bureau's work in the field of national defense, it is becoming increasingly important that we develop confidential informants among all elements whose activities may be inimical to the best interests of the country. Since this coverage must be complete, it becomes necessary from time to time for the Agents in the various field offices to develop informants among classes and within organizations notoriously treacherous and deceitful.

At this time I desire to specifically refer to the matter of developing female informants among various subversive elements. These organizations and individuals are anxiously on the alert to create a situation embarrassing to the Bureau and which would tend to discredit it. You should therefore instruct the individual Agents of your office to use the utmost discretion infiniterviewing female confidential informants, and the interviewing of such persons in their own rooms should be scrupulously avoided. It is further pointed out that even the offices in which such individuals are sometimes employed may not be a safe place for an individual Agent to conduct an interview.

Should an occasion arise where it becomes necessary to interview such a confidential informant in her home or apartment, an Agent should never go unaccompanied, and the interview in each instance should have your personal sanction and approval.

RE: REPORTS OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMANTS

N2842000

Dear Sir:

10-81

The Bureau desires to receive duplicate copies of all reports submitted to the various Field Offices by paid confidential informants. These copies are necessary for filing purposes at the Bureau.

You are directed to immediately contact all paid confidential informants in your Division who are submitting written reports and to instruct them to submit an additional carbon copy of these reports in the future. You should again call to their attention the necessity for dealing with only one subject in each report.

The reports should be submitted to the Bureau exactly as they are being submitted at the present time with the single exception that one additional copy of the informant's report is to be directed to the Bureau.

Very truly yours,

RE: REPORTS OF CONFIDENTIAL INFORMANTS

At the present time all reports from confidential informants are filed in separate files relating to the confidential informants. As the result of this policy considerable information which is pertinent to current investigations is not available in the case file but must be located at the Bureau through a check of the indices. Due to the large volume of material received, it is impractical for the Supervisor reviewing it to check all references on every report. It frequently happens that the Supervisor reviewing reports from confidential informants is not aware of the fact that information submitted is pertinent to a pending investigation. Consequently, the reports are not routed to the Supervisor handling pending cases about which the informant submitted information.

If the material is properly routed to the Supervisor handling the related case, he frequently must require that copies of the informant's report be prepared in order that they may be placed in the case file for future reference.

It is believed that duplicate copies of reports from confidential informants could be filed in the case file and that arrangements could easily be made by the field offices to have paid confidential informants submit an extra copy of their reports to be submitted to the Bureau.

The attached letter to all Special Agents in Charge is designed to remedy this situation.

Dear Sir:

Reference is made to your letter of January 21, 1942, submitting the above captioned report. It is noted that the total number of informants in your Field Division is carried as 643 in the report, whereas the correct total appears to be 650. You should change your records accordingly. $\mathcal{L}(\mathcal{U})$

Reference is made to the number of informants on un-American activities which totals 344. In this connection, the Bureau desires that you review your national defense informant file for the purpose of making sure that it contains the names of those individuals who are actually functioning as confidential informants. The Bureau does not desire that this file contain the names of persons who are merely Sources of Information. $\mathcal{A}(\mathcal{U})$

Reference is made to the memorandum of Mr. Fletcher for you dated January 28, 1942, indicating that Dr. Hans Thomsen. German Charge d'Affaires, had advised that he intended to recommend to the Foreign Office that be included among the returning German mission in order that he may be sent to the German Mmbassy at Bern, Switzerland, because of his knowledge of the French language and that had subsequently advised SA Lawler that he would take any course of action decided upon by the United States Government as he wanted to be in the place where he could serve the best interests of this country.

In accordance with your instructions I called SA Lawler at the Greenbrier Hotel and told him that the Bureau believes it advisable that return to Germany as contemplated by German Charge d' Affaires Thomsen in order that he can be subsequently assigned to Bern. Switzerland. I told SA Lawler that on such an assignment could be of inestimable value to the Bureau.

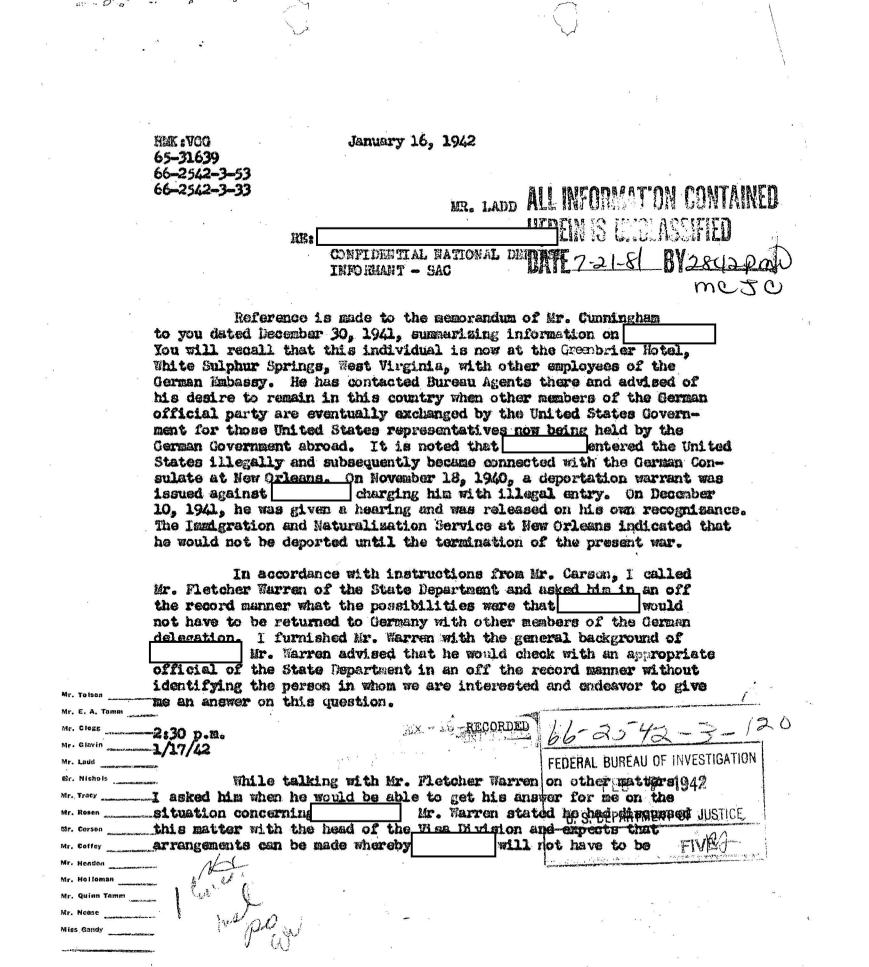

SA Lawler was instructed to discuss this matter with and to make every effort to sell him on the idea of accepting this assignment rather than endeavoring to remain in the United States after the departure of the German mission. SA Lawler stated that he believed that he could influence ______ in this regard. He stated he would keep the Bureau promptly and fully advised of the developments.

Nemo for Mr. Ladd

In the event the German Government notices that has been left off the list and requests that he be put on, the State Demertment can and will then advise the German Government that did not enter the United States as an official representetive of the German Government but entered this country illegally. It will be explained that they took no action against him as long as he was a member of their official staff. However, it will be pointed out that the diplomatic positions are now no longer existent and bons fide official representatives are heing allowed to be exchanged and that they do not feel that _______ hould be allowed to leave because of his original illegal entry. Mr. Warren stated that he felt that this procedure would undoubtedly work.

RECOMMENDATION: In view of the immense value ______ has been to us in the past as an informant and the reasonable possibility that his value can be continued as an informant at the Greenbrier Hetel, it is suggested that you may desire to have Special Agent A. N. Caribles at Greenbrier talk with ______ and set his mind at rest that there is a good possibility that he will not have to return to Germany with the members of the official German delegation in this country. This procedure will undoubtedly calm the informant's apparently great fear at the present time and may result in his being able to again continue his activities as a valuable informant for the Bureau.

Mr. Warren stated that in the event the Bureau desires the procedure which he has suggested be followed we should communicate with him again in order that he can take the necessary steps to be certain that it is handled properly.

Respectfully,

A review of the Bureau files pertaining to the abovementioned individual indicates that he voluntarily called at the New Orleans Office of the Bureau on October 25, 1940, and volunteered his services as an informant. He was interviewed by former Special Agent in Charge A. C. Rutzen and by Special Agents R. N. Pranke and J. O. Peyronnin, all of whom were impressed with his sincere attitude.

On this occasion, he furnished information of interest and value to the New Orleans Office, particularly concerning the German Consul in New Orleans, Baron Edgar Von Spiegel, and to other members of the Consulate staff. This information was furnished to the Bureau by letter dated October 26, 1940, from the New Orleans Office. Mr. Rutsen then telephonically communicated with Mr. C. H. Carson on November 1, 1940, and suggested that the Eureau utilize Schweikle's services as a Confidential Informant at por week. He also advised that there was a possibility for the New Orleans Office to arrange for Schweikle to obtain a position in New Orleans at $15 per mosk. At this time. Mr. Rutzen was advised that any dealings with would have to be very discreet; that he was to make no definite arrangethat if the New Orleans Office procured a position ments with for him, should not know that the Office had done so; further, no definite terms concerning money were to be made with him.

By letter dated November 29, 1940, the New Orleans Office was a subject of deportation and that the advised that Immigration and Naturalization Service at New Orleans was contem-Mr. E. A. According to a letter dated December 14, 1940, from the New Orleans Office. hes furnished information in many different cases being investigated by that Office, a lengthy list of which is set forth in that letter. The information is characterized as being very valuable to the New Orleans Office. That letter also states that Inspector Schmucker of the Indigration and Naturalization Service advised the New Orleans Office that if would prove himself to be of value to the United States in connection with national defense matters, undoubtedly arrangements could be made through the Department of Justice in the future to have him deported to Cuba or some other nearby foreign country and thereafter he could be admitted to the United States in the regular course on a permanent immigrant FBI number is status. By letter dated June 30. 1941. the Bureau authorized the New Orleans Field Office to pay a month for his services. The was making arrangements to leave New Orleans and go to Jasmington, he advised the New Orleans Office, which in turn advised the Bureau telephonically and confirmed departure from New Orleans to Washington by letter dated August 5, 1941.

Ey letter dated August 13. 1941. Mr. McKee advised the Eureau that he had met and talked with _______ and that ______ furnished information to him which was accurate and which coincided with informa-tion concerning activities at the Embassy which the Washington Field Office had procured from other sources.

By letter deted August 26, 1941, the Cashington Field Office advised that it had continued the arrangements made by the New Orleans Office with the Bureau, under date of June 30, 1941, to pay the informant per month. The Cashington Field Office also advised in this letter of August 26, 1941, that was continuing to furnish it with valuable information concerning activities at the Embassy. The original letter from the Bureau authorizing the New Orleans Office to reimburse the informant in the amount of per month is Serial 29X of 66-1542-3-33. b7D b7E

By letter dated October 25, 1941, the Washington, D. C., Field Office, again advised that was continuing to operate as a valuable Confidential Informant and further advised that they were paying him per month. They requested authorization to continue payments to the informant at that rate. This authorization was granted for a period of three months, as of October 31, 1941.

A review of the files concerning this informant does not indicate that the Bureau at any time guaranteed to this individual that he would not be deported. It does appear, however, that if he had not left New Orleans and come to Washington, which move certainly increased his value to the Bureau as an informant, he wouldnot be placed in the position of being liable to be deported to Germany in the near future; rather, he would now be in the status of an ordinary German alien in this country, subject to deportation, that is, he would not be deported until after the expiration of hostilities because of transportation difficulties.

While interviewing Special Agent Claude H. Combs, a member of In-Service Class #4, he stated he would like to make the suggestion that the Bureau advise the field of the identity and addresses of the parents of Special Agents living in their field division, since these parents could undoubtedly be developed into good sources of information by the various field divisions. He pointed out as an example, his own father who lives in a small town in the southwestern section of Virginia who knows everybody in the county and the field has been contacted by Agents and has been able to give them considerable help since he knows everybody around there and since they can place confidence in him.

I advised Agent Combs this suggestion would be brought to the attention of the Bureau.

Dear John:

Thank you for your letter of the 28th ultimo, regarding possible espionage by commercial airline passengers, and am passing the information on to the F.B.I.

It certainly seems to me there should be a general tightening and stricter enforcement of existing regulations governing travel, particularly by air.

Will let you know when I have word from the F.B.I.

Honorable Estes Kefauver House Office Building Washington, D. C.

Dear Estes:

Here is a matter that you might put into the proper channel for attention:

I understand that Mr. Ray Webb, who is with the Provident, was out on the West Coast not long ago. He was at an airport where there were some Army bombers. He was curious to see them. He was also curious to see how close the supervision was. As a result he walked all around under the planes and there was no interference or supervision.

Then too, I was talking to Mr. Murphy with the Provident. We were in Atlanta together last week and he came up the next day on one of the commercial planes. He said a man on the plane, sitting opposite him, took four or five snapshots out of the window with a kodak. Finally the steward observed him and asked that he not take pictures. That was all there was done about it.

My suggestion is that both of these men might in an informative way furnish a certain amount of espionage. They are both reliable. These things they observed could be noted by them from time to time. When they come in from trips they could turn their notes over to the local F.B.I. clearing house. Their identity would be completely hidden and they would therefore be more useful. They are not, by any means, inclined to upset or scare anybody. What they turned in would simply be factual and along the lines of this I am passing on to you. Both of them travel a great deal by plane and otherwise in connection with their work and have remarkably comprehensive opportunities for observation, at points distant from Chattanooga especially.

Sinderely yours,

Dear Sir:

The Bureau is being requested to consider a program of developing Confidential Informants from among the foreign sales representatives of the major American industries, in enemy, occupied and neutral countries of the rest of the world. $\mathcal{Q}_{\mathcal{H}}(\mathcal{H})$

Many foreign sales representatives have been recalled to the United States by their home companies. Many of them have made friendships with citizens of enemy countries through their business connections, which quite naturally have resulted in an accumulation of information and knowledge, which, if now assembled, can be used to the advantage of the United States in the national defense program. I have particularly in mind Japan and the Oriental countries, but, of course, Germany and Italy are equally as important. (

The dearth of information on the activities of our enemies during the past decade should be carefully studied, It has accounted for our industrial and military unpreparedness. 9

Legislation may be required in order for the Bureau to assume this investigative jurisdiction. My thought is for the Bureau to continue to keep the United States informed of the man preparation activities of foreign

Union Pacific Coal Company, Hanna, Wyoming, for the purpose of obtaining information concerning an individual reported to possess Communist sympathies.

It is noted that has advised that the Union Pacific Coal Company has for a long time sought to be kept advised of membership in the Communist Party by its employees and that in this connection he has maintained informants among the employees.

In view of the above information it is the Eureau's opinion that possible embarrassment may result from enlisting the cooperation of this individual as a confidential national defense informant and, therefore, he should not be classified as such in the files of your office. Your attention is directed to the letter from the San Francisco office dated January 23, 1942, in the above captioned matter.

The program in question involves contacts with officials of large industrial organizations such as railroads , manufacturing plants, et cetera, and inducing these officials to, of their own volition, distribute to their employees instructions that matters relative to espionage and sabotage should be reported to the FBI. The means of furnishing these instructions to the employees are handbills and notices distributed to employees and posting at various places where they will reach the employees' attention. The Omaha office, under date of February 3, 1942, also discusses this plan and refers to instructions received by SAC Kenneth Logan of the Butte office from Inspector M. E. Gurnea, in connection with the furtherance of the mass contact program.

I am unaware of the origin of this program and would appreciate being advised whether or not it has Bureau sanction.

The Executive Conference, those present being Messrs. E. A. Tamm, Glavin, Ladd, Nichols, Quinn Tamm, Rosen, Tracy, Carson, Hince, Hendon, Holloman and Clegg, considered a suggestion of Special Agent D. E. Maney that Bureau officials appear before air raid warden groups to inform them as to the FBI's jurisdiction in national defense matters. He felt that they would be a valuable source of information.

The Conference believed that the Bureau's jurisdiction was rather well known and that the Bureau should not undertake to inject itself into any of the civilian defense courses, beyond the scope of its present auties in training policemen.

If this is approved, Agent Raney is being advised accordingly.

During my interview with the above named trainee attending In-Service Class, he offered the following suggestion:

Raney stated that he believed the Bureau should give consideration to having an Agent or official appear before air-raid warden goups with the purpose of informing air-raid wardens as to the jurisdiction of the FBI in National Defense matters. He stated that he has found the air-raid wardens to be a valuable source of information in view of the close coverage which they have of the area assigned to them but that he has also found in a number of instances that these air-raid wardens were not entirely clear as to the proper agency to turn over information regarding National Defense matters.

Raney stated that he believed if the Bureau should bring to the attention of air-raid wardens its jurisdiction, that we might be able to obtain more information quicker from them than has been obtained heretofore.

Dear Mr. Hoover:

Permit me to write you again concerning Mr. Erasmo R. Cruz, Special Agent of the Division of Investigation of the Department of Justice of the Philippines for whom an application in the FBI National Police Academy was made.

I have been informed that the sessions of the FBI National Police Academy scheduled for 1942 have been cancelled due to the wartime energency. In view of this, it will be deeply approciated if suitable arrangements can be made for Mr. Cruz to be detailed at the Federal Bureau of Investigation. The training and experience which he has acquired as Agent of the Division of Investigation of the Philippine Department of Justice will prove very useful, I am sure, in connection with your work with enemy aliens, specially in the Pacific Coast.

Since his arrival in the United States last September, Mr. Cruz has made studies and observations of the work of the New York Police Department, the Metropolitan Police Department, and of the United States Secret Service, Treasury Department. He has also attended the 30-day course, of the new Washington Police Academy, Metropolitan Police Washington, D. C. and most recently the War Traffic School, conducted by the Washington Field Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation. RECONNER & MINING

MERCHARDUE FOR THE ATTORNEY OFFISERAL

In connection with the responsibility imposed upon the Department and this Bureau to assure the internal security of this country during the present period of emergency, it is my thought that you may wish to consider the advisability of placing informants in concentration camps where alien ensuices are interned. Such informants, it is believed, might be in a position to develop pertinent information concerning the activities of associates of the interned dangerous alien ensuices the have not previously been directed to the attention of this Bureau.

I realize that the internment camps are under the jurisdiction of the War Department and that such a program would necessarily have to receive its approval. In the event the program were considered advisable and approved by the Mar Department, two problems would have to be overcome. First, with respect to placing an informant in a particular camp, such action would have to be affected in such a manner so as not to arouse any doubt on the part of the interaces as to the informant's actual status as an internee. It is believed that this could be overcome by having the informant delivered to the custody of the appropriate representative of the War Department by representatives of the Immigration and Haturalization Service. Second. after an informant were successfully placed in an interment camp, the question would arise as to the manner in which the information could be obtained from him. Obviously, if the camp were visited at frequent intervals by a Bureau Agent. even though more than one internee including the informant internee were interviewed, the suspicions of the interness would probably be aroused. Consequently, it eight be considered advisable to arrange for the appointment of a Bureau Agent as a Security Officer at the casp, as a result of which Mr. Tolsonposition he could contact the informat internee without arousing the

Re: JOHN A. HOLTZMAN SPECIAL AGENT

While the above named Special Agent, a member of a recent In-Service Course, was being interviewed by Mr. C. H. Carson, he offered the following suggestions:

Agent Holtzman stated that he believed the Bureau should utilize special case squads in connection with important investigations of an involved and ramified nature, wherever practicable, inasmuch as the case squad idea has proved quite effective in the Bureau's important espionage work in New York, as well as in certain other types of important investigations. It was pointed out to Mr. Holtzman that the Bureau recognized this possibility long since and has been utilizing it in so far as might be practicable; further, that the Bureau depends upon its Special Agents in Charge and other employees to suggest whenever a case is sufficiently important to warrant being treated in the nature of a special with specifically assigned personnel. The difficulties of the special case squad were explained to Mr. Holtzman, it being pointed out to him that, of course, the advantages are ordinarily weighed against the disadvantages, and wherever this procedure would seem to be merited. the Bureau has in the past followed the practice of utilizing the special squad idea, which will undoubtedly be continued.

Agent Holtzman also suggested that in connectibilities and the service schools and other training work done by the Bureau, it has occurred to him that not enough emphasis is being placed upon proctices independent of the suggestions in national defense work, such as espionage cases. If the service courses from hinterland offices which have had no actual espionage in the investigations, do not seem to be as familiar as they might be with the investigative technique utilized by the Bureau in the important espionage cases. Mr. Holtzman suggested that the espionage supervisor should take more time at the in-service sessions; that the lectures should be lengthened, in his opinion, so that all of the Agents, particularly those

BUY SAVINGS not previously experienced on important espionage investigations, might be thoroughly advised as to the investigative technique, surveillance procedures, radio work, handling of informants, etc., so that they can be better qualified if and when they might have to handle actual, important espionage problems. Mr. Holtzman stated he realizes fully that the Bureau has been trying very hard to keep all of the Agents thoroughly informed, particularly by distributing a large amount of bulletin material setting forth suggestions as to the techniques employed by espionage agents, and investigative suggestions. He stated it has been his experience that this bulletin material is somewhat wasted, especially with respect to Agents in hinterland offices who might be inclined to read it over as of some interest and then promptly forget it, as they do not have to go out investigation in their particular offices. Mr. Holtzman stated that he believes lectures would have a tendency to impress these Agents more and that they would not be nearly so likely to forget the instructions. Mr. Holtzman was assured that the Bureau is, of course, anxious to train its Agents in the proper investigative technique and procedure and that this is the sole purpose of the in-service program.

Mr. Holtzman also suggested that the Bureau might consider the advisability of informing all field offices as to the particular types and fields of occupational endeavor, professions, etc., wherein special service contacts are available. He stated he knows that the Special Agent in Charge of a particular field office in which some special service contact is residing is thoroughly informed, but that it has occurred to him it might well be of interest and assistance to the Special Agent in Charge at Kansas City, for instance, to know that the Bureau does have special service contacts available among prominent orchestras, or some other type of activity, in New York or some other field division.

Mr. Holtzman stated that in his opinion attention and consideration could be given to the matter of having one-shot leads and special leads in important investigations handled by letter rather than by setting out undeveloped leads in lengthy reports. He stated that some important and involved espionage case in New York might require the checking of an address in Oklahoma City, merely for the purpose of verifying that such an address existed or that a certain individual resided at the address, and that in all probability it would not be desired that the Oklahoma City office conduct active investigation except to establish such verification, yet, under the present practice, frequently the Oklahoma City office will be given a 200-page report with such a one-shot lead attached; that the information in the report would be of no interest to the field office having such a one-shot lead, but would contain hundreds of names to be indexed, besides the waste of paper entailed in preparing extra copies of the report. It was pointed out to Mr. Holtzman that the Bureau has attempted to take care of this situation in the past and has authorized leads of this kind to be requested and handled by letter, teletype, or telephone; that, ordinarily, such a lead to establish a verification, etc., certainly should not await the typing of a long, involved report in an important espionage case; that the matter should be handled by teletype, telephone, or possibly by letter.

Respectfully. C. H. Carson

UTILIZATION OF TOURIST AGENCIES RE: AS SOURCES OF INFORMATION IN CONNECTION WITH NATIONAL DEFENSE INVESTIGATIONS.

Mr. Addison G. Foster, Assistant Director, Office of Government Reports, suggested to Colonel Ralph C. Smith, Executive Office of G-2, War Department, that Tourist Agencies might be used as sources of information in connection with the investigation of subversive activities of nationalistic groups and other investigations pertinent to national defense. Lieutenant Colonel W. A. Holbrook, Jr., forwarded to the Bureau the attached list of Tourist Agencies in the United States which was made available to him by Mr. Foster.

After considering this project the writer is of the opinion that the value to be derived therefrom would not be commensurate with a large expenditure of time and investigative personnel necessary to properly develop the project.

It is suggested that Messrs Kramer and Kimball be requested to consider this matter to determine if they feel that it would be of sufficient benefit to either espionage or internal security investigations to warrant its initiation.
