Dear Mr. Greenewald:

This is a response to your correspondence received on March 13, 2017, in which you requested information pursuant to the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA)¹, and the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission's (Commission) FOIA regulations, 18 C.F.R. § 388.108. Specifically, you requested a copy of "the home page for the FERC internal website called FERCipedia, along with a copy of each page connected to that home page via one click, i.e., one level down." While the Commission has no legal obligation to create documents in response to FOIA requests, screenshots of FERCipedia-related materials available from the FERCipedia homepage via "one click" are enclosed as a courtesy.² The Commission has no obligation to produce similar information in response to any future FOIA requests.

As provided by the FOIA and 18 C.F.R. §388.110(a)(1) of the Commission's regulations, any appeal from this determination must be filed within 90 days of the date of this letter. The appeal must be in writing, addressed to David L. Morenoff, General Counsel, Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, 888 First Street, NE, Washington, D.C., 20426, and clearly marked "Freedom of Information Act Appeal." Please include a copy to Charles A. Beamon, Associate General Counsel, General and Administrative Law, at the same address.

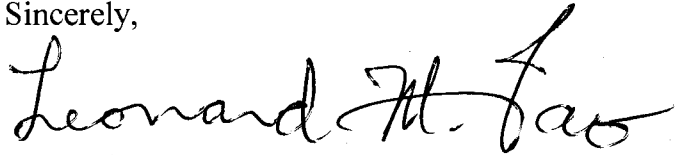

You also have the right to seek dispute resolution services from the FOIA Public Liaison of the agency or the Office of Government Information Services (OGIS). Using OGIS services does not affect your right to pursue your appeal. You may contact OGIS

² Please note that the names of certain personnel are redacted from the screenshots pursuant to 5 U.S.C. § 552(b)(6) (Exemption 6).

Welcome to FERCipedia (site still in progress)

Welcome to FERCipedia!

Unauthorized Use is Prohibited

Welcome to the FERCipedia! This is your opportunity to learn and to help others learn. FERCipedia is a resource for all FERC employees to learn about a topic, say natural gas pipeline siting or security-constrained economic dispatch. The pages you find here are staff-written and topical summaries and might have abstracts and key language and terms from relevant documents; links to those documents and other resources are included as well.

How do you navigate FERCipedia? The first thing you might notice is the list of terms to the left. These are the most broad, high-level, terms that describe what we do here at FERC. By clicking on any of these, you will be taken to a page that will allow you further refine the topic you are searching. You can also search this site using the search box above. Just select "[need to know what it will be labeled]" in the drop-down menu in the search box. There are currently two search options. One is a basic keyword search, meaning that any page containing the word that you type in the search box will appear. For example, if you just use the term "electricity" you're likely to get a lot of results; so try to be specific. The second option is to use an advanced search by typing in one of the advanced search terms found here preceded by XX. This advanced search will return only those pages "tagged" by the author as pertaining to the topic that you searched.

We need your help! FERCipedia is a collaborative effort. That means we all are creating and editing these pages and you can help. When making a new FERCipedia page, please consider that all content is a synopsis of the relevant documents and not an interpretation of those documents. We want this to be a factual resource, not a subjective one. And readers should seek out and review the source documents on which the Wiki content is based when applying information obtained through the FERCipedia in proceedings and other Commission products.
