In 1962 an unknown biped, classified as an unknown species was found deceased under a large Doug Fir tree...The file number on the body is #4377 and it was classified as an "unknown biped", per the DOI, who later took possession of the body. I am requesting to receive a copy of this file which is supposedly still in the Denver Repository. We have had this independently confirmed by two separate USFS employees and would appreciate your cooperation on obtaining a copy of this file.

 "We are requesting copies of the Federal Appraisals for the valuation of forest land in Lincoln County, Oregon. The land was acquired in 2006 from two private landowners: Forest Capital Partners, LLC. (3,685 acres) and Plum Creek Timber Company, Inc. (166 acres). The valuation was $15.5 million and used to purchase the land from the two willing sellers to replace the 262 marbled murrelets lost in the 1999 oil spill caused by the grounding of the "New Carissa" cargo ship."
