1. Source Comment. The purpose of AZCUE's trip is not known. AZCUE, who is the former Cuban consul in Mexico City, had always had an anti-American streak and is now blindly anticomunist to the United States. He said that the Cuban government's program is anti-capitalist and that one of its principal aims is to discredit both the United States and its economic system throughout Latin America. AZCUE said that the economic goal of the CASTRO regime is to socialize Cuba completely. He termed the revolutionary system "Cuban Communitarian."

2. Field Comment. Pablo Agustin ALDAMA, an attaché to the Cuban Embassy in Mexico, has previously been alleged by an untested source in Mexico to be the head of Cuban intelligence operations in Mexico. Another untested source in Mexico reported in September 1999 that ALDAMA, Hector CAMILO VIVES, and Gil Luis SUAREZ Hernández, all of whom the source identified as military attaches to the Cuban Embassy, were in constant touch with both the Soviet and Czech diplomatic installations in Mexico.
