November 1, 1944. HUNTER, T-1, presided at this meeting. He is known to be the sponsor of the party. MAURICE HUNTER, who was at one time an employee of the Portland office of the Soviet Purchasing Commission and who rented his home in Portland to high Russian officials of that Commission, also took an active part in the direction of this meeting. At this meeting HUNTER made a recommendation that Mrs. Wood HONEYMAN, Collector of Customs, be obtained as a guest speaker along with Major General VICTOR A. ZHUKOV, U.S.S.R., at the Council's annual meeting to be held on November 1, 1944 in commemoration of the anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution. HUNTER SIMILARLY, reported by reliable Confidential Informant 230 as a Communist Party member, had suggested that Mrs. HONEYMAN not be obtained as a speaker as he did not believe a Federal government employee would be suitable.

Confidential Informant Portland T-1 also advised MAURICE that EMILIO SOLOD, had once mentioned to him that he had visited with Mrs. HONEYMAN and had dinner in her home. This source further informed that HUNTER had indicated on various occasions that he was on very friendly terms with Mrs. HONEYMAN. Another sponsor of the local chapter of the NCPB was NIKOLAI M. WILLIAMS, who had also told T-1 that he had visited in the HONEYMAN home on various occasions. T-1 mentioned that WILLIAMS was of Polish extraction and was known to converse with members of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission with whom he spoke in the Russian language.

On December 19, 1944 MAURICE observed Soviet Consul General ANTI VASILEV and his private secretary, VASILII BUKHANOV, contact Mrs. HONEYMAN at her offices in the U.S. Customs Building. The nature of this contact was not known, but it may very well have been a social contact, as various other persons in Portland were contacted by these two Russian officials.

On the afternoon of June 16, 1945 Confidential Informant 313, whose reliability is unquestioned, heard MAURICE BOURLAKOV, of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission in Portland, in conversation with Admiral EG. S. RAMISHVILI of that Commission, at which time BOURLAKOV advised the Admiral that HARRY STROMBERG, of the U.S. Customs Service in Portland had told him that MANUEL HONEYMAN was quite upset because she had missed a certain picture. BOURLAKOV had requested the Admiral's permission to invite ADAM HONEYMAN to the showing of the picture which was to be held on the day of the conversation. He had told RAMISHVILI that the picture would be shown to "our people" that day at the "same place." RAMISHVILI agreed to "warn the people that there will be no outsider among them. You never know what they might say."

On July 19, 1945 ALEX HUSILAVY, an employee of the Soviet Government Purchasing Commission, advised Confidential Informant 110 that he had made an unsuccessful attempt to get in touch with Mrs. HELGA HONEYMAN at the Customs House. The purpose of this attempted contact was unknown.
