The other three (3) of the documents reflect protective policies and techniques which are currently being utilized by this Service in its protective capacity. Consequently, it is recommended that you withhold portions of the documents, which have been highlighted in yellow, pursuant to Section 6, Postponement 5 of the JFK Act. Please be advised that the enclosed copy of the documents have been appropriately stamped.

Dear Mr. Laska:

We find we must ask your assistance one more time in connection with ten documents from CIA's microfilm files responsive to the President John F. Kennedy Assassination Records Collection Act of 1992. All ten are from a file describing the work of the "President's Committee on the Warren Report," a Cabinet-level committee set up to act on the recommendations in the final report of the Warren Commission. A primary focus of this committee—which functioned from September to December 1964--was the Secret Service.

Mr. David Van Tassel of the National Security Council has indicated to us that the NSC will defer to your judgment on the release of this material. CIA will pose no objections to the declassification and release of all ten documents, so far as our equities are concerned. (We will be coordinating four of these items with other agencies concerned: the seventh item with the FBI; the ninth with the Department of State; and the tenth and eleventh with the Department of the Treasury.)

Dear Nina:

I am sorry, but I could not leave well enough alone. One of our reviewers has identified one more--possibly final--document (two pages) from our microfilm records which the Department should look at. This one is the minutes of the 24 November 1964 meeting of President Johnson's cabinet-level committee set up to act on the recommendations in the Warren Commission's final report. We have sent a copy also to the Secret Service. CIA has no objection to declassification and release. David Van Tassel of the National Security Council has indicated to us that he will defer to the judgment of State, the Secret Service, and CIA as to the release of this material. We don't believe this one will give you much trouble.

Please again give us your recommendations.

Thank you again and thanks for your forbearance.

Dear Mr. Carver:

This responds to your separate requests of August 30, 1994 and October 5, 1994, for the review of documents originated by the Department of the Treasury subject to the John F. Kennedy Assassination Records Collection Act of 1992, thereafter the JFK Act. We understand the material in question was located within CIA files and consists of an initial sixteen documents (92 pages) and an additional two documents (3 pages), respectively.

Department of the Treasury and U.S. Secret Service reviewers examined all of the material; results follow. In each instance, the enclosed documents have been marked to reflect Treasury's final determinations. Treasury file copies are not being retained.

August 30, 1994 batch - Twelve (12) documents have been declassified and/or determined to be releasable. The remaining four (4) contain information which reflects protective policies and techniques which are currently utilized by the U.S. Secret Service in its protective capacity. Consequently, we hold that certain information, identified in brackets on respective pages, is exempt from release under Section 6, Postponement item 5 of the JFK Act. The information must continue to remain classified while these protective policies and techniques are still relied upon.

October 5, 1994 batch - Both documents have been declassified and are releasable.

In the event you have any comments or questions with respect to this response, please contact Assistant Director (Physical Security), Robert A. McMenamin, on (202) 622-1120.

The Historical Review Group of the Central Intelligence Agency has been tasked with the declassification of CIA's documents sequestered during the investigations by the House Select Committee on Assassinations in 1976-78.
