13 June 1964

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

24

SUBJECT: Further Information from [redacted] on the Manuel RAY Case

1. [redacted] called me at home at 2215/12 June 1964 to relay additional information he had just received from the [redacted].²⁴ The [redacted] reports that on 3 June Andrew St. George, the LIFE stringer photographer who accompanied RAY, made two telephone calls to Miami from Nassau in Spanish. The [redacted] also said that it was TIME's reporter Reingold, mentioned in the TIME article, who next morning (4 June) called lawyer Little and told him that he couldn't guarantee the fee but that the money was expected through American Express. Almost immediately after, an American unknown to (portion garbled in the [redacted] cable) /²⁴ He may have been an employee of the local American Express or Bank⁷ produced $1,000.

2. [redacted] will let us know if any additional information becomes available.²⁴ He opined that the above information from the [Governor] indicates that Reingold was probably instrumental in hiring a lawyer at St. George's request and probably paid for the legal fees involved. The $1,000 is obviously much more than was needed to pay the $14 fine for each person that was levied by the British court.
