In preparation for the telephone call with Jeff West and Michael Collins tomorrow, I thought that this old e-mail may be helpful.

David: I have done a preliminary review of the Sixth Floor Museum inventory. The "All Collections -- March 1997" List has some interesting entries that I would like to have more information on, including:

An example would be the Dorman home movie. There is no version of this film in the JFK Collection. Versions of other items listed in their inventory may be at the Archives, although not as good as what the Sixth Floor may possess.I did not find the second list entitled "Inventory of all Items - January 1997," to be useful.Please let me know when you want to discuss the next step with the Sixth Floor.I have attached a short letter to West for your review to acknowledge receipt of the inventory.
