Subject: Wednesday's interviews
David. Continuing yesterday's commentary on my interviews with candidates for the Press and Public Relations Officer, I shall comment briefly here on my conversations with [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)], and close with some general evaluation of all of them. I found [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)] to be a bright and pleasant fellow, with good experience, who professed a great interest, if it is not apparent in his record, in writing. He seems resourceful, solid, not at all flashy, and direct and engaging. Though currently working for a Republican from Texas who is about to retire, he professed that his hero was H. H. Humphrey, tho' I guess that inspiration can affect both sides of the aisle!! (Nevertheless, something for our Chairman to note...) [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)] is a very able, self-confident woman who seems to have strong views on policy matters, esp. as they affect women, with a good journalism background and some good ties to the Hill. She seems very bright, if with a bit of an edge to her, but a direct and forceful presence. [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)] combination of journalism and Hill work seems to be the most relevant, with [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)] a close second. [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)] seem to be very much of a piece, though [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)] seems to be smoother, if less self-confident. [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)] is the hardest for me to read, but then he was the first I spoke with. If I had to rank them according to how their experience and personal attributes match up with our needs (thinking that press relations and an ability to write is most important to us, tho' if we decide to request more time and money, this equation changes dramatically), I rank them thusly: [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)]. But I concede that [Screened by: NARA RD-F on October 24, 2016 according to the John F. Kennedy Records Collection Act of 1992, 44 U.S.C. 2107, Section 6(3)] is made with considerable doubt. Maybe it was the chemistry... I hope you find this to be of some help... --Bill
