Subject: The E-mail

The messages about people's reactions to other people's actions are annoying. If I have some how offended anyone, tell me in person. If I get another snippy E-mail for some perceived slight that I'm not even aware I have committed, I am going to scream. As a former Administrative Assistant, I've been there and none of it should be taken so seriously. If you have a problem with me, speak to me.
