Subject: FINCEN seek reimbursement

Alex Treadaway posed the question of whether the ARRB will be able to provide some financial reimbursement to FINCEN for the costs of performing searches for us, especially those that involve sub-contractors. (FINCEN uses subs to begin some of the more banal searches. The subs are on their premises and their work is controlled by FINCEN.) There was no demand for money on their part, rather I sensed it was a testing of our financial waters. (We didn't tell them we are experiencing something of a drought.) They asked us to speak with you about this with the understanding we would talk again when we visit them in early September. Any other comments on this, Jeremy?
