Subject: Your requests at the library

None of the names that you asked me to check were listed in any of the databases at the L of C, with the exception of Thomas C. Mann's confirmation hearing transcripts being available in the Law Library. I looked through subject files on Latin America, Mexico, CIA history, US foreign relations, and "studies of influence in international relations", and found several books that include discussions of the people you asked about. I have arranged for the following books to be delivered directly to our study shelf no later than Wednesday morning: La CIA en Mexico, Manuel Buendia. (Manuel Legaspi reads Spanish and has agreed to peruse this book.) The United States and Mexico: Patterns of Influence by George Grayson. The CIA under Harry Truman by Michael Warner. Kennedy and Latin America by Edwin Martin. The Unknown CIA: my three decades with the Agency by Jack Russell Smith. There are several others that I have identified as possibly being relevant to this search. I intend to go to the L of C Wednesday morning to get the books from the shelf, and I will order the others at that time. Contact me if you have any questions, further instructions, or if there is anything else I can do for you.
