Subject: Bi-weekly report

The following is a summary of my activities over the last two weeks. Undertook and carried out a research project for Jeremy at the Library of Congress. I was instructed to search the databases for any mentions of Win Scott, Thomas C. Mann, Walter Sheridan or Marty Underwood. I found that no books in the L of C databases were written either by or specifically about any of these men. I then reviewed several books on the subjects of US-Mexican and US-Latin American relations, the history of the CIA and the history of US foreign relations to try and find mention of them in background material. The problem is, I believe, that these names were classified until recently, thus little or nothing is available on them in secondary sources. I was not able to find anything on these people. I am not aware of the purpose of this assignment, as it was not explained to me, nor did I ask to have it explained. I have also been reading several books from Doug Horne's library in an attempt to find either more pertinent information or to identify possible records search areas that had not yet occurred to me. I have completed reading The CIA: A Forgotten History by William Blum, and am in the process of reading The CIA and American Democracy by Rhodi Jeffreys-Jones. Next on my reading list is CIA by Brian Freemantle. Finally, over Friday the 13th and Monday the 16th, I joined the rest of the CIA team in reviewing the documents on Mexico City that have not yet been addressed by the Board. We were trying to come up with consensus recommendations or staff positions on some of the tougher issues that remain.
