I scanned and OCRed it. I posted it to the list but I figured I would send you a copy now, as the listserver may take a few days to spit it out. Bardwell is scheduled to attend the national district attorneys convention in New Orleans from March 12 to 17 and intends to visit Garrison while he is there. "This is the most fantastic story I've ever heard," Bardwell said. "If it's a coincidence, it would have to be a one in a million shot." The doctor's story goes like this: While an intern at LSU, Dr. Owen and ten of his classmates were assigned to visit rooms and patients in Jackson Memorial Hospital near Mandanville, La. On Tuesday, Nov. 19, 1963, the 11 interns were making their hospital rounds when they came upon a room into
