How about this for a response from David?To: Jeremy Gunn/ARRBcc: From: David Marwell/ARRBDate: 07/03/96 10:36:57 AMSubject: Re: Work at homeI don't think that it would be productive for me to respond at this point to all of the issues that you raise. I did want to correct, however, what may be a misperception on your part. I thought it was inappropriate for Kevin to take materials out to you. I instructed him not to and arranged for a courier to make the delivery. When I made this decision, we were still awaiting the delivery by fax of some of the things that you wanted. When we ordered the courier, I asked Doug when the material would be ready for pick-up since we did not want the courier to have to wait around for it (and thus incur more charges). He estimated 1:00 pm (as it turned out an accurate estimate). The decision to send the courier changed only the identity of the delivery person and not the timing of the delivery.
