Subject:	Substitute Language
Body:	I was called this morning by one of the NSA reps who attended yesterday's Board meeting. During the course of the meeting, it was mentioned that CIA had worked out suitable substitute language with the Board for some of their documents. NSA is not concerned with substitutions for specific text redactions (they can handle that on their own); rather, they're wondering if there has been occasions where an entire CIA document was postponed and the Board accepted as a substitute some sort of summary or characterization of the document in its stead. If so, could you provide me an example(s) that I could pass on to NSA for them to consider?
