Subject: Evaluators of Historical Paper Documents
Today, I met with a former AP reporter, Richard Barnes, who was in the AP San Francisco office at the time of the assassination. He saved all of the AP wire copy from November 22 - 26, 1963. He showed me the original wire copy today. It is very interesting. Barnes did not leave the original wire copy with me, but he is interested in donating it. However, he would like to know the value of the original wire copy, if any, before he donates it to the JFK Collection. Barnes did leave with me a copy of the wire material he saved from the five days after the assassination. The copy he left is not for our files. It is loaned to us, pending closure on donation of the original. Barnes asked if we could give him suggestions for people who could evaluate his paper records. The names we got before were for audio/visual materials. Could we get some names for document evaluators?
