Subject: Groden's Correct Address

recstat: PMSubject: Groden's Correct AddressI just called the Vickery Station of the Dallas Post Office (214-553-8894) and determined that they presently hold our registered package for Robert Groden (your letter of August 8, 1996 plus the original copy of the deposition transcript); they left a notice at his residence because he was not at home when they tried to deliver our mail, which means he must come and pick it up from the Vickery Station.I told them that the previous letter we had mailed him (Laura's letter of August 1) had been returned to sender stamped "no such number," and asked the clerk what was incorrect about our address. He said the correct street number is "6161" E. Northwest Highway, not "616" as was used on both of our mailings.The good news is that the Post Office solved the mystery of our incorrect address, and is holding our package for him to pick up; the bad news is that he has not picked it up yet.
