Ms. Denlea, my name is Doug Horne, and I am a senior analyst with the ARRB in Washington, DC. I am the person whom your brother Richard spoke to you about via e-mail this past Friday, January 10. I tried to call you today, using the following number which your brother gave me, and the computer telephone operator said that the number "does not compute:" (910) 836-1416. I then called the information operator in Los Angeles and was given the following number: (213) 340-8425. I called this number and was invited to leave a message by a recording machine, and I did so. I would very much like to speak with you (as suggested by both of your brothers, Richard and George) for just 5-10 minutes, at a time of your convenience. Please call me COLLECT at (202) 724-0088, and just ask for Doug Horne when our receptionist answers; I have alerted the admin staff to accept your collect call. You should be able to reach me for sure between 9:30 AM-5:00 PM, Eastern Standard Time. Richard told me that you are about to embark on a vacation, and we are hoping to speak with you prior to your departure. I am ready to answer any questions you may have about our charter, goals, etc. Thank you, in advance.
