Subject: Consultant Contract

I have been approached by my former employer, the National Milk Producers Federation, to present a contract proposal for some radio work I performed while working there. The work would involve interviewing, on tape, the CEO or other NMPF staff members on various dairy producer issues. This interview would be edited into audio cuts and offered to radio stations via a on-demand digital provider. My voice would be used only at the beginning of the tape and in counting down the cuts (3, 2, 1). An example is still on the NMPF newsline (800-685-6455.) I would be paid by NMPF, which would include funding from a Beef Board contract, funded with mandatory contributions by cattle producers used for research and promotion programs. This is producer money, but the spending under the program is subject to USDA review. Under no circumstances, would I use my government title or my name in presenting information to farm broadcasters. Most know me personally, anyway. The work would be performed outside the normal working hours of ARRB. I would anticipate Friday evenings and some Saturdays. Of course, ARRB work would take priority at any time and would be so stated in the contract. It is my understanding that I need both David's approval and the approval of Brian as Ethics Officer to present this contract proposal. David has given preliminary approval, subject to this written proposal. Brian, if you have any questions, please ask. Respectfully, Thom Wilborn
