Subject:	Hosty Database Project
Body:	I need to fulfill my obligation to Phil, and clear old business off of my calendar, so I can move on to the more challenging projects you have just assigned me, and the many on J-track which await my attention. Since I am so much in arrears on this project, I have decided to bite the bullet now and try to listen to the four 90-minute cassettes assigned to me, and complete the required data base entries, this week.This way, when I launch into the new medical research leads I can devote my full attention to that project (and others) without interruption.Kevin and Laura and Phil have all finished their Hosty work, and I am the one holding up the show. I need to just get this thing done, and move on.I realize that if something urgent comes up, you may still need my services in other areas, but until or unless this happens, I'll be hanging out in the conference room with Mr. Hosty.
