Subject: Randy Rakers

Randy called a second time and asked about some of the issues raised by Ron Haron in the compliance meeting. In particular he wanted to know about the questions regarding intelligence files at the Carlisle Barracks. I told him that Jane Sealock said that records from the 112th would be located at IRR, but that they would be investigative files. Randy said that papers for individual, higher echelon, unit commanders would be stored at Carlisle Barracks. For example, the ACSI's papers for that time period would be at the Carlisle Barracks. Randy said that possibly the Commander of the region, I believe that would be the 112th's CO, would also be stored at his location. Randy also asked about a compliance letter for the Military History Institute. I think he might be the only person who actually wants one. He once again asked that you give him a call.
