Subject: Your Manuscript

To John McLoughlin--In response to your phone messages, and to your recent e-mail to Mr. Wilborn, here is all I can tell you about your manuscript:-it was not assigned to me for review;-it was instead assigned to someone else;-I have not had time to read it in my "spare time," since I have no spare time;-I hope to have a chance to do so someday, but I do not know when that might be;-even if I did have a chance to read it on my own time, it would be inappropriate for me to comment on it to you, since our standing policy is that we do not comment on work in progress, nor do we provide "private review comments" on the draft work of authors and researchers. Remember, all records of our internal work will be placed in the JFK collection at the Archives when we shut down.These may not be the responses you had hoped to receive, but this is the consistent response we are obliged to give out to all researchers who provide leads.Take care--Doug Horne.
