Subject: Brian's malady
Brian called me earlier today on an HSCA matter. We chatted for a while and then, out of the blue (your name had not been mentioned at all), he growled: "And don't ask me to say hello to Laura. I won't do it!" Egads! He is still sulking!!P.S. He was kidding, but there was an edge to it!P.S.S. Do you or Colleen have any suggestions/home remedies for what were called, the last time I had them ('round about the time Runners World was first published... or some such era), "shin splints"?
