

NR_key_name: 3BEF9864CCF086E6852564AC007AD440
SendTo: Kevin;Jeremy;Doug
CopyTo: DisplayBlindCopyTo: BlindCopyTo:
From: CN=Joseph Freeman/O=ARRB
DisplayFromDomain:
DisplayDate: 06/04/1997
DisplayDate_Time: 6:27:55 PM
ComposedDate: 06/04/1997
ComposedDate_Time: 6:21:37 PM
Subject: hanging on to my inlaws' coattails again, or "How History Gets Written"
You each may be interested to know that tomorrow's (Thursday's) Washington Post will allegedly contain the text of an article my brother-in-law Jonathan Rauch wrote, re: untruth-telling in Robert Reich's recently-published memoir of his tenure in the Clinton administration. It's a good article. Supposedly, the Post is going to run Reich's reply as well as make some kind of editorial comment of their own. I've read Jon's article; it's very good and -- though it trashes a liberal -- I would recommend it to you.
Body:
recstat: Record
DeliveryPriority: N
DeliveryReport: B
ReturnReceipt: Categories: