I spoke with Jim this morning. He accepted the position and the salary. He said we should have received his fingerprints and paperwork on Friday but we did not. I explained that Tracy would have to see who holds his clearance, talk to DOJ about what further investigation would have to be done, and would call him the end of this week or the beginning of next week regarding a start date. He said that he could not start until after July 13 due to a military commitment.
