Subject:	Backup Tapes
Body:	I just wanted to let you know that Tracy gave me the backup tapes, and I'm keeping them in the black filing cabinet behind my desk. I say this because it looks like you put in another tape for the rest of Friday's backup sometime over the weekend, which confused me briefly this morning. Anyway, the Friday backup apparently always takes two tapes now, so I'll just switch them on Monday morning so I can keep things straight. Also, when I got in this morning, the Novell server said that the backup operation was incomplete, and that the JGunn mail file was truncated. Is this a common occurence, or will I have to re-run the backup?Thanks...
