I think wehave consistently been more open that anmost any commission, committee orexecutive agency in the govt. But we need to find a creative way to discuss thebriefings, kinds of information, etc. before taking these issues to a publicmeeting. We've done this many times before. I know exactly what the law says and I'm sure that Ron did a good jobof researching the problem But I am not so naive as to believe that anyone whowas in charge of the Act or worked in a commission, etc. would admit to NOTfollowing the Sunshine Act.
