Subject: Zapruder Film Issues

Following the discussion you and I just had, here are the points you requested that I clarify in writing: A. Jamie Silverberg previously promised to do two things, which to my knowledge, he has not done: -photocopy and mail to us a copy of the inventory of LMH copies of the Zapruder Film, namely, the same inventory he showed to me on April 10, 1997 in his offices; -determine whether Henry Zapruder, any other member of the Zapruder family, or the LMH company, has in its possession the original "home movie" shot on side A of the same reel of film on which the assassination was captured; if he has conducted this inquiry, he has not communicated the results to me. B. Rollie Zavada, our Kodak consultant for Zapruder film matters, has two new requests he made to me today: -can we obtain temporarily, on loan from the LMH company, "Item No. 2" on the LMH Co. inventory--the 8 mm film labeled on the lid of the silver aluminum film can as "1st generation dupe made from the original and turned over to Time, Inc. by Zapruder. Frames were cut out of this 8 mm roll to replace damaged frames in making the work print..."? Because Rollie previously observed marked differences in density between the two first generation copies in the Archives, he would like to lay what appears to be this "third of three" first generation copies alongside the two at NARA and compare the densities of all three at the same time. [Implicit to this request of his to visit Washington to do this, would be a request to examine edge print, intersprocket information, and density on the original home movie, if located, by comparing it with the with the original assassination film.] -is he free to publish a very limited number of selected frames of the Zapruder film in his report(s)? He said the primary reason would be to show the nature of the intersprocket "anomalies" he is studying, such as frames 320-328 (which seem to show a double fender image from a motorcycle escort policeman, as well as density changes between two sprocket holes), but I also believe he would desire to publish critical edge print information in his edge print report on "film provenance," as well as photos of the density differences between the first generation copies. He feels a need, he said, to rephotograph the "anomalous" intersprocket images. Strongly implied in all of this is a possible trip to Washington by Rollie; he and I did not discuss who would pay. (Remember, he does have his own airplane.) His phone number is (716) 248-2162. Thanks.
