Subject: Chapter 4
Bob and I turned in our first draft of Chapter 4 to Jeremy last Thursday, June 25. I wrote "space holder" wherever I thought your respective sections would fit in. For Michelle, I saved a space for NSA rules under sections 6(1) and 6(3). For Kim, I saved a space for Secret Service rules under sections 6(3) and 6(5). For Doug, I saved a space for privacy postponements of POW files under section 6(3). Jeremy asked me to e-mail you and tell you that he plans to stay home on Wednesday to work on his edits to Chapter 4, so he would like to have whatever you have by the end of his day tomorrow. By the way, Bob and I wrote one paragraph descriptions of the record groups for FBI/CIA. If you think that your agency's record groups should be briefly described in the final report, you may want to include a description along with your sections on standards for review. Here is an example of a record group description:
a. The FBI's "Core and Related" Files
The FBI's "core and related" files consist of those records that the FBI gathered in response to FOIA requests that it received in the 1970s for records relating to the assassination of President Kennedy. The "core" files include the FBI files on Lee Harvey Oswald and Jack Ruby, as well as the FBI's Warren Commission files and the JFK assassination investigation file. The "related" files include FBI files on Marina Oswald, Marguerite Oswald, George DeMohrenschildt, Ruth Paine, and Michael Paine.
