Subject: Trip to Charleston
As Laura has already told you, I thought of you (and Robert Mitchum) as I looked out from the bridge of the USS Yorktown. Turns out both the Yorktown and a destroyer (the name of which I've already forgotten) docked alongside her at the Patriots Point Charleston Harbor Maritime Museum were used in support of ground troops at both Pelelieu and Okinawa (the two engagements my dad fought in), so I was especially glad to have seen them. Also, I saw a hardcopy of Priscilla McMillan's Lee and Marinain a used bookstore in Charleston and thought of you -- I don't see that book around very much, though I'm sure you have it. Hope you're well. I may bother you from time to time as I write my draft for Chapter 1, to make sure I've got some of my facts right. Hope that's OK.
