Subject: Re: Several things

1. I'm working on getting you a table (eventually you'll have a credenza, but the tables are good in the meantime).2. I have actually been checking on recycling, I'll let you know what I find out.3. We do have white paper as well as yellow. I prefer the white, but some folks specifically requested yellow. Maybe we can guilt them!4. Can we chat on Monday about cards/credentials? I'm getting ready to leave early for the day. Thanks for your patience!

1) I could really use one of the small tables for my office (like Tom and Sheryl have.) Are there any extras around, or are more on order?2) I am an inveterate re-cycler. Does the Federal government have an office recycling program we could follow (as a beginning step I'm thinking of non-sensitive content white office paper, aluminum soda cans and glass bottles.)3) Also on the recycling front, as a thought to Valerie (who I gather orders supplies) - white lined paper IS recyclable (which is good, if we can recycle it) BUT yellow lined paper is NOT recyclable as a general rule.4) Credentials.... business cards....
