Subject: Re: Quotation marks
That's good enough for me. Thanks for the clarification.

Subject: Quotation marks Generally I would agree with you on this, but the peculiar formatting rules of Federal Register notices prohibit use of quotation marks except for names of books, journals, articles, and similar items. Defined words are underlined in the submitted text and put in italics in the published text. I'd be happy to show you the relevant text in the Office of Federal Register Document Drafting Handbook if you are interested.
