Subject:	Re: my notes on visit to USSS Archives June 1, 1995
Body:	I used that language--file on transcripts of doctors' testimony--when I spoke to Machado. I told him exactly where it was when I saw it. He said that he knew what I was referring to. I said that "doctors' testimony" sounds like more than newspaper clippings. He said that he would call Sampson and ask him to copy the contents of the file I was referring to in the box marked "JFK Assassination." Machado said that he (Machado) had seen the JFK boxes too, and he was sure that these "press transcripts" as he called them were open to the public. (Perhaps they are from the first public statements around 4 PM on November 22, 1963.) If that is what this material is, maybe I picked up the word "testimony" from Sampson since he described what they were but he did not let me see what was in the folder. I told Machado we were interested in any USSS reports on conversations with the Parkland doctors and that any original copy of, for example, Elmer Moore's report was probably still in USSS offices. That's when Machado said that he didn't know where anything like that could be except in the Official Case file. I asked him about charge-out cards that would identify who had various materials, and he said these are also often missing. Let's see what Machado brings over.To:Joan Zimmerman/ARRBcc:From:Jeremy Gunn/ARRBDate:02/08/96 11:53:45 AMSubject: Re: my notes on visit to USSS Archives June 1, 1995That's good enough. Let's tell Machado that that is what we want to see.To:Jeremy Gunn/ARRBcc: From:Joan Zimmerman/ARRB Date:02/08/96 11:40:29 AMSubject:my notes on visit to USSS Archives June 1, 1995In my handwritten notes I wrote "a file on transcripts of doctors' testimony." I don't remember seeing anything specifically about Parkland.
