Subject: Re: where in the world

I had urgent personal business with my best friend (personal and professional) of the last 10 years. The timing was not ideal, but was beyond my control. Because I will be spending 4-5 hours of my time this weekend building 2 skull models for ARRB which will be used for the 2 depositions. I will also be spending 1 day this weekend helping Jeremy with deposition preparation. I do not expect to be paid for either activity. However, they will more than counterbalance the 3 hours I was gone for personal business. This is why I did not put in for 3 hours of personal leave. I also realize you did not know this, so I don't mind you inquiring. Can you shed some light on this for me, please? Thanks.
