Subject: Re: Reading Room

I wouldn't say it was "typically." I did it once last week and once this week. After the first memo I noticed the same problem with the presiding officer statement that I had with the reading room tickle. I went back in and added it to the same memo right away. I thought maybe the first one hadn't been sent yet and I could add another sentence to it rather than doing a new memo. Same thing last week - I wanted to add one thing to the memo.
