You were supposed to ignore the part about Tracy getting it twice. She got it twice because I went back in and added another sentence to the original memo and sent it again. The part that is significant here is that I go in and click on the box (i.e. 200) and it changes from red to green and shows completed but it pops up in NOTES that I still need to do something I've already done and told the system I had done it.
