Subject: Re: More Ward & Paul names for potential pursuit

Although I think that our chances of actually finding anything are slim, I would like to continue the search as long as no significant cost is entailed. So let's have Dave look.To: David Marwell/ARRB, Dave Montague/ARRB, Jeremy Gunn/ARRBcc: Tom Samoluk/ARRB From: Joseph Freeman/ARRB Date: 06/18/96 01:35:25

PMSubject: More Ward & Paul names for potential pursuitI went out to NARA II to look for initials/names I could pull off of transcripts/stenotapes, re: Ward & Paul employees involved with the Warren Commission and, potentially, the infamous 9/18/64 Executive Session meeting. I then ran the names by Fred Ward at the Senate Intelligence Committee for verification.Ward & Paul reporters who prepared stenotapes for the WC: Alvin Mills, later went to work for the State DepartmentRobert Cantor, later went to work for the House of Representatives, was there as recently as 5-7 years ago.Benjamin Firshein (deceased)Ward & Paul typists who processed WC stenotapes: Dorothy Nash, lived in Alexandria, VA, at one timeHelen Unstad
