There is an article on the front page of the Post today about this. To: all cc: From: Kevin Tiernan/ARRB Date: 09/20/96 10:37:59 AM Subject: FWD: Personal info on the net A friend at the archives sent this to me this morning. I saw the story on the news yesterday. cc: bcc: Kevin Tiernan/ARRB) From: ebrooks @ gpo.gov (Edward B Brooks) @ Internet @ WORLD.COM Date: 09/19/96 05:10:11 PM CDT Subject: FWD: Personal info on the net Got this from a friend; it may be worth your attention. Brad To: ebrooks@gpo.gov (Brad), Jeff.Yeck@fedfil.com (Jeff Yeck), jblassoc@mtolympus.ari.net (Barry Christopher) Subject: Personal info on the net I received this e-mail from a friend today. I also heard about it on NPR. I am a Lexis-Nexis subscriber so I know that this service does in fact exist. Thought you guys might be interested and alarmed like I was:-----Your name, social security number, current address, previous addresses mother's maiden name, birth date and other personal information are now available to anyone with a credit card through a new Lexis database called P-Trax. As I am sure you are aware, this information could be used to commit credit card fraud or otherwise allow someone else to use your identity. You can have your name and information removed from this list by making a telephone request. Call (800)543-6862, select option 4 and then option 3 ("all other questions") and tell the representative answering that you wish to remove your name from the P-trax database. You may also send a fax to (513) 865-7360, or physical mail to LEXIS-NEXIS / P.O. Box 933 / Dayton, Ohio 45401-0933. Sending physical mail to confirm your name has been removed is always a good idea. As word of the existence of this database has spread on the net, Lexis-Nexis has been inundated with calls, and has set up a special set of operators to handle the volume. In addition, Andrew Bleh (rhymes with "Play") is a manager responsible for this product, and is the person to whom complaints about the service could be directed. He can be reached at the above 800 number. Ask for extension 3385. According to Lexis, the manager responsible is Bill Fister at extension 1364. I called this morning and had my name removed. The representative will need your name and social security number to remove you from the list. I suggest that we inundate these people with requests to remove our info from the list and forward this e-mail to everyone we know.----- End of forwarded message -----
