Subject: Re: faxers and faxees

Thanks. I hope someone, ie Barbara, or whoever, will let me know when this is the case, at which time I will physically tell the people whom it affects that a classified fax has arrived. Let me know if you have further or better suggestions. Thanks again, Cathy Fyi: In some cases (usually few and far between), the fact that a classified message has been sent is classified itself, as are the names of the recipients and the senders... I don't think that this will happen to us all that much, but I thought you should be aware that it does happen occaisionally.
